News In Brief

Court Orders New Action in Anti-Red Fight

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U. S. Court of Appeals today directed the federal government to conduct further proceedings in its seven-year effort to require the Communist party to register as a tool of Moscow.

The court said the Subversive Activities Control Board, if it is to rely upon the testimony of Mrs. Mary Stalcup Markward, must make available to the Communist party certain reports she made to the FBI.

This apparently left the board with the alternative of eliminating Mrs. Markward's testimony from the record and writing another report, or conducting further hearings.

The registration proceeding against the party was initiated in November 1950, following passage over the veto of former President Truman, of the Subversives Activities Control Act.

This is the second time the case has reached the Court of Appeals.

It got to the Supreme Court once, but the high court sent it back for further proceedings without reaching the question of constitutionality of the law.

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — All men who think in terms of future generations should swap their heat-producing pants for kilts, say three outstanding Swedish geneticists after extensive research.

They reported a "dangrous increase in the frequency of genetic mutations because of higher temperatures produced by the wearing of modern tight pants. A genetic mutation causes children to differ from the characteristics of their parents to some noticeable degree, usually in an abnormal way.

The doctors recommended more ventilation, obtainable with kilts or the like.

OTTAWA (AP) — Nobel Peace Prize winner Lester B. Pearson says the best hope of world peace might be the discovery that another planet is inhabited and its space ships circling the globe.

"Then all of us on both sdes of the Iron Curtain would get together and say, 'They can't do this to us,' " the former Canadian foreign secretary said Wednesday night at a banquet.

Air Force Views On Missiles Told

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators called on the Air Force's top missiles officer today for his ideas on how to speed up development of intercontinental ballistic missiles.

Maj. Gen. Bernard A. Schriever was questioned before the Senate Preparedness subcommittee, which heard two of his superiors testify Wednesday more money is needed for this and other programs.

Chairman Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex) said testimony by Gen. Thomas D. White, Air Force chief of staff, "opens up an important field for inquiry."

"In his view," Johnson added, "we are not doing everything we can and we are not planning to do everything we can" to develop the ICBM.

Johnson told newsmen that White said "hundreds of millions of dollars" had been cut from the funds the Air Force needed for its programs of missiles and manned bombers.

* * *

THE SENATOR said White and Gen. Curtis E. LeMay, deputy chief of staff, testified they had not obtained enough funds to step up projects for intercontinental ballistic missiles "as much as they can be and should be."

"We are presently not getting enough manned bombers fast enough for this transition period" before missiles become available, Johnson quoted White.

The senator said White told of some increases in the Atlas ICBM project but "testified that the Titan project had not been speeded up at all."

Both Atlas and Titan are intercontinental missiles planned to hurl nuclear warheads as far as 5,000 miles in less than an hour.

"Gen. White told the subcommittee that in seeking adequate funds he had made 'every plea before every proper authority,' " without success, Johnson said.

Sen. McClellan Directing Probe

Rackets Committee Eyes Kohler Strike

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. McClellan (D-Ark) today took over active direction of his Senate Rackets Committee's field investigation of the United Auto Workers and the Kohler Co. of Wisconsin.

The committee postponed until next month its public hearings into violence and other aspects of a continuing UAW strike against the Kohler firm, which makes plumbing fixtures.

McClellan's action came on the heels of protests by UAW President Walter Reuther and Sen. McNamara (D-Mich), a committee member, against the field investigation as handled by John McGovern, counsel to the committee's Republican members and head of the committee's Detroit field office.

Reuther had accused McGovern of making improper, irresponsible and prejudcial statements against the union. McNamara had demanded that the committee fire McGovern, but said he did not press that demand.

* * *

IN DETROIT, Reuther said the union will welcome a hearing before the committee and its representatives "will answer all questions completely without taking refuge in the Fifth Amendment."

Reuther contended, however, that the committee staff has "concentrated primarily on investigating the union," and expressed the hope that "a comparable effort will be made to investigate the company" before public hearings are held.

Indiana Toll Road's Safety Mark Hailed

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—The northern Indiana toll road was named one of America's safest highways in 1957 in a report made public Wednesday by Capt. Alva R. Funk, commanding officer of the Indiana State Police detachment on the 150 mile highway.

The traffic fatality rate was reported at 2.6 per 100 million vehicle miles of travel. This was approximately one - half the death rate on other Indiana highways.

NEW YORK (AP) — John (Johnny Dio) Dioguardi, reputedly one of the kingpins of labor racketeering in the New York area, was sentenced Wednesday to 15 to 30 years in prison for labor extortion.

City Churches Urged To Aid Wider Areas

[illegible] (AP)—The church, especially the city church, must go [illegible] community around it and serve the people it finds there, the final study session of the United Church of Christ's convocation was told today.

These persons may not be considered "respectable" in all cases by others in the community, but the church has the means to help them, six speakers who addressed the convocation's fifth session agreed.

The three-day convocation, first nationally since the Evangelical and Reformed and Congregational Christian churches merged in 1957, is studying the problems of churches in cities.

The Rev. David D. Wright of Chicago discussed the social work available to a church.

"Because the ministry of the church, when it is doing its job," he said, "is in constant and intimate contact with people, it is in a position to know wherein society is failing in its task."

He said the "ordinary" services of a church are important channels of help to those who are "least capable, or even incapable, of being helped by professional services."

The services include corporate worship, preaching, teaching, counseling, group work, calling and visitation, he said.

Hearing Aid for Deafened Music-Loving Dog Is Sought

DALLAS (AP)—A woman violinist today sought a hearing aid for her pet, a symphony-loving cocker spaniel who was deafened last week by pranksters' firecrackers.

Miss Catherine Pierce, a violinist for the Dallas Symphony Orchestra, said she left her 14-year-old cocker Grubby in her car last Saturday while she visited some friends.

She said when she returned, the interior of the car had been damaged and her dog deafened by firecrackers thrown into the vehicle.

A veterinarian told Miss Pierce her dog was completely deaf. He said the dog's eardrums were not broken, but told her Grubby suffered a hearing collapse from the firecracker blasts because he is such an old dog.

Miss Pierce said her dog had always appeared to love music. Grubby was a regular sight in the wings of auditoriums when the orchestra was playing.

Grubby's mistress said when she and her friends got together at her home for string quartet sessions, Grubby would lie on the floor for hours without making a sound.

"He really seemed to like music," Miss Pierce said.

"The vet told me his hearing might return in time," she said, "and since the eardrums are not broken I have some hope something can be worked out. I'm going to try to fix up a hearing aid."

Miss Pierce said Grubby did not appear to be in pain, although "he's quieter than usual."

U.S. Mothers Reunited with Sons in China

2 Women Report Their Prisoner Kin In Good Condition

HONG KONG (AP)—An American mother was reunited today in Shanghai with her son who was imprisoned for life by the Chinese Communists on espionage charges. She had not seen him in 11 years.

"I feel wonderful," said Mrs. Ruth Redmond of Yonkers, N.Y. in a telephone conversation to Hong Kong. "Hugh is looking very good."

Mrs. Redmond's son Hugh, 38, a former businessman in Shanghai, has been held by the Reds since 1951.

Another mother, Mrs. Mary Downey of New Britain, Conn., also saw her son, John, in a prison at Peiping, the British news agency, Reuters reported from the Red Chinese capital. She found him "very fit and in good spirits," the report said.

Mrs. Downey and a younger son, William, visited the prisoner for two hours. He has been imprisoned since 1952 on a life sentence on espionage charges.

* * *

MRS. DOWNEY and William arrived in Peiping Wednesday night with Mrs. Jessie Fecteau of Lynn, Mass., who was to see her son, Richard, later. Fecteau is serving a 20-year sentence, also on espionage charges.

Authorities at the gray-walled Taso Lan Tze (Grass Basket) Prison told Mrs. Downey she and Mrs. Fecteau would be allowed to see their sons three times a week until their Chinese visas expired Jan. 19.

Mrs. Redmond said she saw her son for two hours. He was brought into a room in a big building to meet her. She did not know the name of the building.

Redmond was given a life sentence in 1954 on charges of spying for the United States. A decorated and wounded veteran of World War II, he went to China in 1946 to work for an export-import firm.

Mrs. Redmond was accompanied to the building by two Red Cross representatives. She said during the two hours she and Hugh sat holding hands, several men were in the same room listening.

"Hugh asked about his father and sister and everybody at home," she said.

Mrs. Redmond could not hear when asked on the phone what more her son had to say.

She said she expected to see him again Saturday.

Leist Named President of School Board

Carl C. Leist, Northridge Road, was elected president of the Circleville City Board of Education at the group's organizational meeting last night in Circleville High School.

Robert Brehmer Jr. was named vice president of the board Other members, all reelected, are Mrs. Walter Heine, Robert Elsea and Ray Davis, who is also county prosecutor.

Regular meeting date, 7:30 p. m. the first Tuesday of each month, was set by the board.

Committees appointed are; supplies—Elsea, Leist, Heine; teachers and salaries — Leist, Heine, Davis; finances — Davis, Leist, Brehmer; textbooks and apparatus— Heine, Brehmer, Elsea; and building and grounds — Brehmer, Davis, Elsea.

Atlas Ballistic Missile Firing Expected Friday

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Weather permitting the Air Force probably will attempt a test launching of its 5,000-mile-range Atlas ballistic missile Friday.

Forecasts were for warmer temperatures and diminishing winds.

Gales up to 30 m.p.h. forced cancellation of a launching attempt Wednesday.

STILL A STRONG TEAM — Vice President Richard M. Nixon (left) tries out a football presented him by more than 100 coaches at the meeting of the American Football Coaches association in Philadelphia. Ohio State's Woody Hayes (right) was given the group's "Coach of the Year" award. Nixon told the coaches the United States is "militarily stronger than any potential aggressor."

Another Study Scheduled On Succession to Presidency

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman Celler (D-NY) said today the House Judiciary Committee will offer a proposal for temporary succession by the vice president if a president is incapacitated.

Celler said the committee will discuss the issue next week and "should not require more than one or two meetings to agree."

Meanwhile, Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn) said, "I think we should act to clear up this cloudy area of our Constitution in this session of Congress."

Kefauver, chairman of the Senate Constitutional Amendments subcommittee, announced that group will start hearings later this month on pending proposals to deal with presidential inability.

Presidential disability legislation, under study for two years, has made slow progress largely because of the outspoken past opposition of House Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex).

* * *

SINCE Congress reconvened Tuesday, Rayburn has indicated that the door may not be completely closed to consideration of such legislation, although he said he has yet to see a proposal that would improve on present constitutional provisions.

The Constitution says that "in case of the removal of the President from office, or his death, resignation or inability to discharge the powers and duties of the said office, the same shall devolve on the vice president."

But the Constitution does not spell out procedures to be followed in determining when a president is unable to function.

President Eisenhower, whose three serious illnesses have sparked interest in the problem, has proposed a constitutional amendment under which a president could declare in writing he is unable to discharge the duties of his office and the vice president would become acting president.

A majority of the Cabinet could install the vice president as acting president if the President were unable to determine his own fitness to function. Under this plan, the President would recover office from the vice president by declaring in writing he is again able to handle his duties.

FHA Reducing Cash Outlay On Home Loan

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Housing Administration has taken steps that will reduce the cash outlay for FHA-financed homes and in some instances permit lower discounts on some home mortgages.

Announcing these moves Wednesday, FHA Commissioner Norman P. Mason said they should "give added impetus to the increase in home building activity."

FHA also said it does not plan to increase its current 5¼ per cent maximum interest rate on FHA-insured mortgages. A boost in this ceiling had been urged by some builders and lenders.

The agency said that buyers of FHA-financed homes no longer will be required to pay closing costs in cash.

In the companion action, the FHA ruled that lenders in some areas, mainly the Western states, may increase mortgage discounts, but must lower them in some other areas where mortgage funds now are in easier supply.

7,800-Mile Phone Hookup Used To Tie Nuptial Knot

OLATHE, Kan. (AP)—"I, William Scout Harrison, take thee, Helen, to be my wedded wife," said the voice on the telephone.

"I will," said Mrs. Helen Hudelson.

Linked by a 7,800 mile telephone hookup, the two were married Wednesday night. Harrison is in Taipei, Formosa. The new Mrs. Harrison is in Olathe.

Harrison is an official with the United States Information Agency.

Mrs. Harrison is recorder of deeds for Johnson County, Kan.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Theodore Sperduto of the Presbyterian Church here.

Mrs. Harrison plans to join her husband soon in the Far East.

Soviet Economic Drive Labeled as Biggest Threat

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower today gave Congress an eight-point "Safety Through Strength" program for dealing with the Russian space age threat. It included defense reorganization to unify control and end interservice rivalries.

In an eagerly awaited State-of-the-Union message, Eisenhower said that unless we act wisely and promptly "we could lose that capacity to defend ourselves" and deter any Soviet attack.

The President said too that the country could make no more tragic mistake "than to concentrate merely on military strength." That, he said, could lead to an age of terror.

Of even greater danger than the military threat posed by Russia's space era advances, Eisenhower said, is a massive economic offensive already launched by the Soviet Union against the U. S. and the Free World.

The President said the actions he outlined would call on the American people for both sacrifice and a high degree of understanding.

"FOR SACRIFICE to be effective it must be intelligent. Sacrifice must be made for the right purpose and in the right place—even if that place happens to come close to home!" he said.

"After all, it is no good demanding sacrifice in general terms one day, and the next day, for local reasons, opposing the elimination of some unneeded federal facility.

"It is pointless to condemn federal spending in general, and the next moment condemn just as strongly an effort to reduce the particular federal grant that touches one's own interest.

"And it makes no sense whatever to spend additional billions on military strength to deter a potential danger, and then, by cutting aid and trade programs, let the world succumb to a present danger in economic guise.

"I am fully confident that the response of the Congress and of the American people will make this time of test a time of honor. Mankind then will see more clearly than ever that the future belongs, not to the concept of the regimented atheistic state, but to the people—the God - fearing, peace-loving people of all the world."

The President's speech was considered by many as the most momentous address of his five years in office.

The Senate and House assembled in joint session in the House chamber to hear the President deliver his message personally.

* * *

THERE WAS almost a wartime solemnity in the general mood of a Congress shaken by the national concern over Russia's space and rocket feats.

And, in the same note of the critical world situation, Eisenhower made his eight point a direct appeal to the people of the Soviet Union — over the heads of their Kremlin leaders — to join in a drive for enduring world peace and take part in a first step toward disarmament.

The seven other points of his program will require legislative action by Congress.

The points:

1. Defense reorganization—Eisenhower, obviously with mounting interservice rivalries in mind, said the nation's first need is to assure that military organization speeds rather than hinders the functions of the military establishment.

Eisenhower said he will have specific proposals later in a special defense message.

"Let us proudly remember," he said, "that the members of the armed forces give their basic allegiance solely to the United States. Of that fact all of us are certain. But pride of service and mistaken zeal in promoting particular doctrine has more than once occasioned the kind of difficulty of which I have just spoken."

Eisenhower did not point a finger at any individual or service. He said:

* * *

"I AM NOT attempting today to pass judgment on the charge of harmful service rivalries. But one thing is sure, whatever they are, America wants them stopped."

2. Accelerated defense effort — Eisenhower called for a speedup all along the line, including protection and further dispersal of U. S. striking forces and more adequate warning facilities in case of attack.

He said freedom of the seas must be maintained, and said that means nuclear submarines and cruisers, as well as antisubmarine weapons, missile ships, and similar facilities.

"We must maintain all necessary types of mobile forces to deal with local conflicts, should there be need," he said. "This means further improvements in equipment, mobility, tactics and fire power.

"Through increases in pay and incentive, we must maintain in the armed forces the skilled manpower modern military forces require.

"We must be forward-looking in our research and development to anticipate and achieve the unimagined weapons of the future.

"With these and other improvements, we intend to assure that our vigilance, power, and technical excellence keep abreast of any realistic threat we face."

3. Continuation and strengthening of the mutual security program of foreign aid — Eisenhower said that if the foundations of the free world structure "were progressively allowed to crumble under the pressure of communist imperialism the entire house of freedom would be in danger of collapse."

He added:

"The real fact is that no investment we make in our own security and peace can pay us greater dividends than necessary amounts of economic aid to friendly nations."

Red Newspaper To Fold Monday

NEW YORK (AP) — The Daily Worker, the Communist newspaper, says it will suspend publication next Monday, 34 years after it began.

Suspension of the daily was announced in an editorial in today's issue. The paper's demise was blamed on "lower party membership, diminished resources and unresolved political differences."

The weekly Worker, the daily's weekend edition, will continue.

Circulation of the Daily Worker dropped from its peak of 30,000 about 10 years ago to 7,200.

New Canadian Coin: Death Money?

VANCOUVER, B. C. (AP)—That new Canadian dollar may just be more wampum to the white folks but to West Coast Indians it's death money.

The design for the new dollar, struck to commemorate the British Columbia centennial this year, was submitted by Stephen Trenka of Thornhill, Ont.

Trenka used a totem pole motif which he said was inspired by the raven myth of the Haida Indians of British Columbia.

Then Guy Williams, a spokesman for the Native Brotherhood of British Columbia, saw the coin. He said it pictured the Tmimpsean Indian mortuary totem, which has as its crowning figures the likeness of a bear mother and her son.

Therefore, Williams said, the dollar was memloose chickman, death money, and no West Coast Indian would dare handle the new coin.

Williams is supported by Mrs. Ellen Neel of Vancouver, an authority on the vanishing art of totem carving.

Wilson Duff, curator of anthropology at the Provincial Museum at Victoria, says the design closely follows the top portion of a sketch in the museum of a Haida totem.

The Haida myth of the raven tells how a supernatural raven transformed primeval darkness into order by stealing the sun from its hiding place and bringing light to the world.

Even if the new coin's design is derived from the raven myth, it is not suitable, Mrs. Neel contends.

She said some variations of the raven myth are pornographic.

Canadian Sen. Thomas Reid of New Westminster, B. C., advised provincial authorities he has asked the government for an "official statement on the exact significance of the totem on the coin."

Atlas Ballistic Missile Firing Expected Friday

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Weather permitting the Air Force probably will attempt a test launching of its 5,000-mile-range Atlas ballistic missile Friday.

Forecasts were for warmer temperatures and diminishing winds.

Gales up to 30 m.p.h. forced cancellation of a launching attempt Wednesday.

STILL A STRONG TEAM — Vice President Richard M. Nixon (left) tries out a football presented him by more than 100 coaches at the meeting of the American Football Coaches association in Philadelphia. Another Study Scheduled On Succession to Presidency

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman Celler (D-NY) said today the House Judiciary Committee will offer a proposal for temporary succession by the vice president if a president is incapacitated.

Celler said the committee will discuss the issue next week and "should not require more than one or two meetings to agree."

Meanwhile, Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn) said, "I think we should act to clear up this cloudy area of our Constitution in this session of Congress."

Kefauver, chairman of the Senate Constitutional Amendments subcommittee, announced that group will start hearings later this month on pending proposals to deal with presidential inability.

Presidential disability legislation, under study for two years, has made slow progress largely because of the outspoken past opposition of House Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex).

• • •

SINCE Congress reconvened Tuesday, Rayburn has indicated that the door may not be completely closed to consideration of such legislation, although he said he has yet to see a proposal that would improve on present constitutional provisions.

The Constitution says that "in case of the removal of the President from office, or his death, resignation or inability to discharge the powers and duties of the said office, the same shall devolve on the vice president."

But the Constitution does not spell out procedures to be followed in determining when a president is unable to function.

President Eisenhower, whose three serious illnesses have sparked interest in the problem, has proposed a constitutional amendment under which a president could declare in writing he is unable to discharge the duties of his office and the vice president would become acting president.

A majority of the Cabinet could install the vice president as acting president if the President were unable to determine his own fitness to function. Under this plan, the President would recover office from the vice president by declaring in writing he is again able to handle his duties.

FHA Reducing Cash Outlay On Home Loan

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Housing Administration has taken steps that will reduce the cash outlay for FHA-financed homes and in some instances permit lower discounts on some home mortgages.

Announcing these moves Wednesday, FHA Commissioner Norman P. Mason said they should "give added impetus to the increase in home building activity."

FHA also said it does not plan to increase its current 5¼ per cent maximum interest rate on FHA-insured mortgages. A boost in this ceiling had been urged by some builders and lenders.

The agency said that buyers of FHA-financed homes no longer will be required to pay closing costs in cash.

In the companion action, the FHA ruled that lenders in some areas, mainly the Western states, may increase mortgage discounts, but must lower them in some other areas where mortgage funds now are in easier supply.

7,800-Mile Phone Hookup Used To Tie Nuptial Knot

OLATHE, Kan. (AP)—"I, William Scout Harrison, take thee, Helen, to be my wedded wife," said the voice on the telephone.

"I will," said Mrs. Helen Hudelson.

Linked by a 7,800 mile telephone hookup, the two were married Wednesday night. Harrison is in Taipei, Formosa. The new Mrs. Harrison is in Olathe.

Harrison is an official with the United States Information Agency.

Mrs. Harrison is recorder of deeds for Johnson County, Kan.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Theodore Sperduto of the Presbyterian Church here.

Mrs. Harrison plans to join her husband soon in the Far East.

Soviet Economic Drive Labeled as Biggest Threat

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower today gave Congress an eight-point "Safety Through Strength" program for dealing with the Russian space age threat. It included defense reorganization to unify control and end interservice rivalries.

In an eagerly awaited State-of-the-Union message, Eisenhower said that unless we act wisely and promptly "we could lose that capacity to defend ourselves" and deter any Soviet attack.

The President said too that the country could make no more tragic mistake "than to concentrate merely on military strength." That, he said, could lead to an age of terror.

Of even greater danger than the military threat posed by Russia's space era advances, Eisenhower said, is a massive economic offensive already launched by the Soviet Union against the U. S. and the Free World.

The President said the actions he outlined would call on the American people for both sacrifice and a high degree of understanding.

"FOR SACRIFICE to be effective it must be intelligent. Sacrifice must be made for the right purpose and in the right place—even if that place happens to come close to home!" he said.

"After all, it is no good demanding sacrifice in general terms one day, and the next day, for local reasons, opposing the elimination of some unneeded federal facility.

"It is pointless to condemn federal spending in general, and the next moment condemn just as strongly an effort to reduce the particular federal grant that touches one's own interest.

"And it makes no sense whatever to spend additional billions on military strength to deter a potential danger, and then, by cutting aid and trade programs, let the world succumb to a present danger in economic guise.

"I am fully confident that the response of the Congress and of the American people will make this time of test a time of honor. Mankind then will see more clearly than ever that the future belongs, not to the concept of the regimented atheistic state, but to the people—the God - fearing, peace-loving people of all the world."

The President's speech was considered by many as the most momentous address of his five years in office.

The Senate and House assembled in joint session in the House chamber to hear the President deliver his message personally.

• • •

THERE WAS almost a wartime solemnity in the general mood of a Congress shaken by the national concern over Russia's space and rocket feats.

And, in the same note of the critical world situation, Eisenhower made his eight point a direct appeal to the people of the Soviet Union — over the heads of their Kremlin leaders — to join in a drive for enduring world peace and take part in a first step toward disarmament.

The seven other points of his program will require legislative action by Congress.

The points:

1. Defense reorganization—Eisenhower, obviously with mounting interservice rivalries in mind, said the nation's first need is to assure that military organization speeds rather than hinders the functions of the military establishment.

Eisenhower said he will have specific proposals later in a special defense message.

"Let us proudly remember," he said, "that the members of the armed forces give their basic allegiance solely to the United States. Of that fact all of us are certain. But pride of service and mistaken zeal in promoting particular doctrine has more than once occasioned the kind of difficulty of which I have just spoken."

Eisenhower did not point a finger at any individual or service. He said:

• • •

"I AM NOT attempting today to pass judgment on the charge of harmful service rivalries. But one thing is sure, whatever they are, America wants them stopped."

2. Accelerated defense effort — Eisenhower called for a speedup all along the line, including protection and further dispersal of U. S. striking forces and more adequate warning facilities in case of attack.

He said freedom of the seas must be maintained, and said that means nuclear submarines and cruisers, as well as antisubmarine weapons, missile ships, and similar facilities.

"We must maintain all necessary types of mobile forces to deal with local conflicts, should there be need," he said. "This means further improvements in equipment, mobility, tactics and fire power.

"Through increases in pay and incentive, we must maintain in the armed forces the skilled manpower modern military forces require.

"We must be forward-looking in our research and development to anticipate and achieve the unimagined weapons of the future.

"With these and other improvements, we intend to assure that our vigilance, power, and technical excellence keep abreast of any realistic threat we face."

3. Continuation and strengthening of the mutual security program of foreign aid — Eisenhower said that if the foundations of the free world structure "were progressively allowed to crumble under the pressure of communist imperialism the entire house of freedom would be in danger of collapse."

He added:

"The real fact is that no investment we make in our own security and peace can pay us greater dividends than necessary amounts of economic aid to friendly nations."

Red Newspaper To Fold Monday

NEW YORK (AP) — The Daily Worker, the Communist newspaper, says it will suspend publication next Monday, 34 years after it began.

Suspension of the daily was announced in an editorial in today's issue. The paper's demise was blamed on "lower party membership, diminished resources and unresolved political differences."

The weekly Worker, the daily's weekend edition, will continue.

Circulation of the Daily Worker dropped from its peak of 30,000 about 10 years ago to 7,200.

Hearing Aid for Deafened Music-Loving Dog Is Sought

DALLAS (AP)—A woman violinist today sought a hearing aid for her pet, a symphony-loving cocker spaniel who was deafened last week by pranksters' firecrackers.

Miss Catherine Pierce, a violinist for the Dallas Symphony Orchestra, said she left her 14-year-old cocker Grubby in her car last Saturday while she visited some friends.

She said when she returned, the interior of the car had been damaged and her dog deafened by firecrackers thrown into the vehicle.

A veterinarian told Miss Pierce her dog was completely deaf. He said the dog's eardrums were not broken, but told her Grubby suffered a hearing collapse from the firecracker blasts because he is such an old dog.

Miss Pierce said her dog had always appeared to love music. Grubby was a regular sight in the wings of auditoriums when the orchestra was playing.

Grubby's mistress said when she and her friends got together at her home for string quartet sessions, Grubby would lie on the floor for hours without making a sound.

"He really seemed to like music," Miss Pierce said.

"The vet told me his hearing might return in time," she said, "and since the eardrums are not broken I have some hope something can be worked out. I'm going to try to fix up a hearing aid."

Miss Pierce said Grubby did not appear to be in pain, although "he's quieter than usual."

New Canadian Coin: Death Money?

VANCOUVER, B. C. (AP)—That new Canadian dollar may just be more wampum to the white folks but to West Coast Indians it's death money.

The design for the new dollar, struck to commemorate the British Columbia centennial this year, was submitted by Stephen Trenka of Thornhill, Ont.

Trenka used a totem pole motif which he said was inspired by the raven myth of the Haida Indians of British Columbia.

Then Guy Williams, a spokesman for the Native Brotherhood of British Columbia, saw the coin. He said it pictured the Tmimpsean Indian mortuary totem, which has as its crowning figures the likeness of a bear mother and her son.

Therefore, Williams said, the dollar was memloose chickman, death money, and no West Coast Indian would dare handle the new coin.

Williams is supported by Mrs. Ellen Neel of Vancouver, an authority on the vanishing art of totem carving.

Wilson Duff, curator of anthropology at the Provincial Museum at Victoria, says the design closely follows the top portion of a sketch in the museum of a Haida totem.

The Haida myth of the raven tells how a supernatural raven transformed primeval darkness into order by stealing the sun from its hiding place and bringing light to the world.

Even if the new coin's design is derived from the raven myth, it is not suitable, Mrs. Neel contends.

She said some variations of the raven myth are pornographic.

Canadian Sen. Thomas Reid of New Westminster, B. C., advised provincial authorities he has asked the government for an "official statement on the exact significance of the totem on the coin."

C of C Meet Set Tonight

Richard Anderson, Battelle Memorial Institute, Columbus, will speak on "Satellite and Space Travel" at the annual meeting of the Circleville Area Chamber of Commerce at 6:30 p. m. today in the Pickaway Country Club.

More than 80 members of the Chamber are expected to attend the annual meeting. Outgoing president D. E. McDonald will report on chamber activities during 1957. Darrell Hatfield will give the report of the secretary-treasurer.

Then, C. K. Vaughan, new president, will assume office. Hatfield remains as secretary-treasurer of the chamber.

Truck Afire, But Weighing Comes First

PAINESVILLE (AP)—State Patrolman Robert Ryan stopped a truck near Kirtland for a weight check Wednesday, and as soon as that was completed, firemen put out a fire in the truck.

The sequence of events began with Ryan halting a 19-ton tractor-trailer outfit loaded with coal. It was driven by Samuel Case, 34, of Canton. He was en route from Mineral City to the Eastlake plant of Cleveland Electric Illuminating Co.

As Ryan told Case he would have to come in to Painesville for a check on the scales, they noticed smoke rising above the trailer and discovered the trailer was hot to the touch.

So the patrolman and the trucker barreled down Johnny Cake Ridge and headed for the scales beside the Painesville fire station.

The instant the scales had been read, firemen moved in with their hose and doused the coal until the smouldering stopped.

As it turned out, Ryan was mistaken. The load was legal.

Why they checked the weight first? Because all that water might have pushed the total weight into the illegal zone.

Hess Named New OU Football Coach

ATHENS (AP)—William R. Hess, one of Woody Hayes' top assistants at Ohio State University, today was appointed head football coach at Ohio University.

The appointment announced by President John C. Baker came as a surprise in view of Hess' withdrawal several weeks ago as a candidate for the post.

Hess on Feb. 1 will succeed Carroll Widdoes in the coaching post. Widdoes stepped down to devote full time to his position as athletic director.

Highway Fatalities Drop In County During 1957

Pickaway County counted a sharp decrease in traffic fatalities during 1957.

A total of five fatal accidents marred the county highway list this year. Fortunately this is a welcome drop from the 22 highway deaths recorded here in 1956.

It also is a much better record than the 15 traffic deaths compiled in 1956.

Local law officers were greatly pleased with the comparatively low highway accident record of 1957. They all expressed hope that the county would maintain the low figure this year.

* * *

FOUR of the fatal accidents were investigated by the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department. Circleville Police handled the other.

The first 1957 fatal came January 25 when a Fayetteville man was killed at Westfall-Kinderhook Road and Route 138. The next fatality wasn't recorded until August 11 when a Route 1, Lancaster youth was killed on Route 22 about three miles west of Circleville.

The third highway death was the result of a Portsmouth woman being injured at Routes 56 and 104 September 25. She died September 30.

The fourth death was recorded here October 31. A Route 1, Ashville woman was killed when a train struck her car at the W. Main St. crossing.

The last tragedy here came November 10 when a 10-year-old Route 1, Williamsport youth was killed on the Harrisburg-Darbyville Road about 20 miles northwest of Circleville. He was struck by an oncoming auto as he was helping pour gasoline into a stalled car.

1957 City Fire Losses Reach $9,855, Chief Wise Reports

The Circleville Fire Department answered 203 calls during 1957.

Information on the year's activity was compiled in a report to City Council by Fire Chief Talmer Wise.

His report noted that 110 of the calls were to fires in Circleville. Loss in these fires amounted to $9,855.

Other data included: rural fires, 22; Washington Twp. calls, 8; Circleville Twp. calls, 14; emergency calls, 40; cats on poles and in trees, 5; and calls to unlock doors for unfortunate citizens, 4.

* * *

GASOLINE used for these calls amounted to 225 gallons and motor oil used totaled six gallons.

The most destructive fire of 1957 was in November at the Winner Implement Co., 150 Watt St., according to Chief Wise. Loss in this blaze amounted to about $7,500.

The chief said auto and truck fires were the most common type blazes during the year.

Total losses were considerably higher than last year. In 1956 fire damage in the city amounted to only $2,955. One of the heaviest fire loss years here was in 1955 when the Maizo Mills plant on W. Main St. was destroyed. Loss that year amounted to $102,665.

7th Democratic Candidate for Governor Appears

CLEVELAND (AP)—The field for the Democratic nomination for governor of Ohio had been enlarged to seven today with the entrance of Cuyahoga County engineer Albert S. Porter in the race.

Porter, 53, announced his candidacy Wednesday at a news conference at which he accused Republican Gov. C. William O'Neill of being "unable to deal with the problems of state government."

"In some important fields he seems unaware that there is a problem," Porter said. "His almost callous disregard of unemployment and the needs of welfare and poor relief in the metropolitan centers would lead one to believe that he has no grasp of the needs of the people in the fields of social and welfare legislation."

Ohio Valley Plant Ups Aluminum Production

RAVENSWOOD, W. Va. (AP)—The Kaiser Aluminum and Chemical Corp. plant here doubled its primary aluminum capacity Wednesday when "bake-out" operations began on the second line of 164 electrolytic cells.

Five million pounds per month will be added to the Ohio Valley-produced aluminum from the giant integrated plant. The doubled primary capacity follows by less than two months the first "Start up" of 164 aluminum - producing electrolytic cells.

Stock Mart Irregular In Trading

NEW YORK (AP) — Aircrafts and airlines rose early this afternoon in an otherwise irregular stock market. Turnover was moderate.

Gains and losses ran from fractions to a point among key stocks.

A mood of uncertainty prevailed as the financial community awaited President Eisenhower's State of the Union speech.

After a moderately active opening the market slipped into a mixed state with trading quiet. Activity picked up later in the morning as aircrafts and airlines posted gains.

Douglas Aircraft was about the best in its group, advancing a good point.

United Air Lines paced the air carrier section with a two-point rise.

The trend was generally lower among steels, rails, nonferrous metals, and oils.

U. S. Steel was off a point or so. Fractional losses were taken by Chrysler, Caterpillar, Union Carbide, Du Pont, International Paper, Texas Co., New York Central and Chesapeake & Ohio.

U. S. government bonds were firm.

Rocketman Story Said To Be False

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Investigation now clearly indicates that The Associated Press erred Monday in using the phrase "reliable sources" in its report that the Soviet Union had launched a manned rocket into space.

The investigation shows that while the nonofficial sources quoted had proved reliable in the past, they were reporting rumors in this case. There has been no formal denial of the rumors from the Soviet government.

The Moscow staff says it heard the manned rocket reports from East European correspondents and at least one Western embassy. Moscow gave the story by telephone to London. It was in this process that misunderstanding arose. Two London staffers who took the call say they understood the Moscow staffer to say the story could be attributed to reliable sources.

Immediately after this, stringent Moscow censorship was imposed on the rocketman story.

Late Wednesday the Moscow bureau said that while the adjective "reliable" could apply to the sources from which the reports came, the rumor they were relaying was completely unconfirmed.

Truck Afire, But Weighing Comes First

PAINESVILLE (AP)—State Patrolman Robert Ryan stopped a truck near Kirtland for a weight check Wednesday, and as soon as that was completed, firemen put out a fire in the truck.

The sequence of events began with Ryan halting a 19-ton tractor-trailer outfit loaded with coal. It was driven by Samuel Case, 34, of Canton. He was en route from Mineral City to the Eastlake plant of Cleveland Electric Illuminating Co.

As Ryan told Case he would have to come in to Painesville for a check on the scales, they noticed smoke rising above the trailer and discovered the trailer was hot to the touch.

So the patrolman and the trucker barreled down Johnny Cake Ridge and headed for the scales beside the Painesville fire station.

The instant the scales had been read, firemen moved in with their hose and doused the coal until the smouldering stopped.

As it turned out, Ryan was mistaken. The load was legal.

Why they checked the weight first? Because all that water might have pushed the total weight into the illegal zone.

Hess Named New OU Football Coach

ATHENS (AP)—William R. Hess, one of Woody Hayes' top assistants at Ohio State University, today was appointed head football coach at Ohio University.

The appointment announced by President John C. Baker came as a surprise in view of Hess' withdrawal several weeks ago as a candidate for the post.

Hess on Feb. 1 will succeed Carroll Widdoes in the coaching post. Widdoes stepped down to devote full time to his position as athletic director.

Highway Fatalities Drop In County During 1957

Pickaway County counted a sharp decrease in traffic fatalities during 1957.

A total of five fatal accidents marred the county highway list this year. Fortunately this is a welcome drop from the 22 highway deaths recorded here in 1956.

It also is a much better record than the 15 traffic deaths compiled in 1956.

Local law officers were greatly pleased with the comparatively low highway accident record of 1957. They all expressed hope that the county would maintain the low figure this year.

* * *

FOUR of the fatal accidents were investigated by the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department. Circleville Police handled the other.

The first 1957 fatal came January 25 when a Fayetteville man was killed at Westfall-Kinderhook Road and Route 138. The next fatality wasn't recorded until August 11 when a Route 1, Lancaster youth was killed on Route 22 about three miles west of Circleville.

The third highway death was the result of a Portsmouth woman being injured at Routes 56 and 104 September 25. She died September 30.

The fourth death was recorded here October 31. A Route 1, Ashville woman was killed when a train struck her car at the W. Main St. crossing.

The last tragedy here came November 10 when a 10-year-old Route 1, Williamsport youth was killed on the Harrisburg-Darbyville Road about 20 miles northwest of Circleville. He was struck by an oncoming auto as he was helping pour gasoline into a stalled car.

1957 City Fire Losses Reach $9,855, Chief Wise Reports

The Circleville Fire Department answered 203 calls during 1957.

Information on the year's activity was compiled in a report to City Council by Fire Chief Talmer Wise.

His report noted that 110 of the calls were to fires in Circleville. Loss in these fires amounted to $9,855.

Other data included: rural fires, 22; Washington Twp. calls, 8; Circleville Twp. calls, 14; emergency calls, 40; cats on poles and in trees, 5; and calls to unlock doors for unfortunate citizens, 4.

* * *

GASOLINE used for these calls amounted to 225 gallons and motor oil used totaled six gallons.

The most destructive fire of 1957 was in November at the Winner Implement Co., 150 Watt St., according to Chief Wise. Loss in this blaze amounted to about $7,500.

The chief said auto and truck fires were the most common type blazes during the year.

Total losses were considerably higher than last year. In 1956 fire damage in the city amounted to only $2,955. One of the heaviest fire loss years here was in 1955 when the Maizo Mills plant on W. Main St. was destroyed. Loss that year amounted to $102,665.

7th Democratic Candidate for Governor Appears

CLEVELAND (AP)—The field for the Democratic nomination for governor of Ohio had been enlarged to seven today with the entrance of Cuyahoga County engineer Albert S. Porter in the race.

Porter, 53, announced his candidacy Wednesday at a news conference at which he accused Republican Gov. C. William O'Neill of being "unable to deal with the problems of state government."

"In some important fields he seems unaware that there is a problem," Porter said. "His almost callous disregard of unemployment and the needs of welfare and poor relief in the metropolitan centers would lead one to believe that he has no grasp of the needs of the people in the fields of social and welfare legislation."

United Air Lines paced the air carrier section with a two-point rise.

The trend was generally lower among steels, rails, nonferrous metals, and oils.

U. S. Steel was off a point or so. Fractional losses were taken by Chrysler, Caterpillar, Union Carbide, Du Pont, International Paper, Texas Co., New York Central and Chesapeake & Ohio.

U. S. government bonds were firm.

Rocketman Story Said To Be False

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Investigation now clearly indicates that The Associated Press erred Monday in using the phrase "reliable sources" in its report that the Soviet Union had launched a manned rocket into space.

The investigation shows that while the nonofficial sources quoted had proved reliable in the past, they were reporting rumors in this case. There has been no formal denial of the rumors from the Soviet government.

The Moscow staff says it heard the manned rocket reports from East European correspondents and at least one Western embassy. Moscow gave the story by telephone to London. It was in this process that misunderstanding arose. Two London staffers who took the call say they understood the Moscow staffer to say the story could be attributed to reliable sources.

Immediately after this, stringent Moscow censorship was imposed on the rocketman story.

Late Wednesday the Moscow bureau said that while the adjective "reliable" could apply to the sources from which the reports came, the rumor they were relaying was completely unconfirmed.

Girl, 13, Sets 2 World Swim Marks

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — Ilse Konrads, 13-year - old Australian swim phenom, tonight smashed the world records for 880 yards and 800 meters freestyle in winning the half-mile New South Wales championship.

The youngster was timed in a remarkable 10 minutes, 17.7 seconds for 880 yards. En route she was clocked at the 800 meter mark (875 yards) in 10:11.1.

Ilse clipped 16.9 seconds off the listed 880-yard record of 10:34.6 and 19.8 seconds off the recognized 800-meter standard of 10:30.9.

Calls for More Homework

A highly revealing incident took place in San Francisco recently at a Boy Scout convention.

Mortimer Adler, the well-known educator and "Great Books" patron saint, in speaking to 500 Boy Scouts said that "the future of our country depends on your learning more than what the schools now require. A serious deficiency in the schools is that you're not given enough homework."

Boos and hisses swept through the auditorium.

Adler, no stranger to controversy, started again: "I would expect a sound amount of schoolwork would mean four to five hours of home study a day."

There were more hisses and boos, although here and there a smattering of applause.

Adler then put it on the line. "I didn't intend to make you angry but you are no longer children . . . It is important that you do well because the future of this country depends on your generation."

Anyone who has had contact with teenagers will not be too surprised by this story. There is the natural antipathy of anyone to suggestions that he work longer at a disagreeable task.

But also this adult generation has talked so much of the virtues of "getting along with other people" it is no wonder the youngsters have decided it was more important to spend their non-school hours in activities which let them practice the social graces than in more study. The schools have fallen in with this viewpoint.

Too often today's teenager will frankly declare that the most important element of education is not the absorption of subject matter but the learning of "getting along with other people." It would seem that a revision of this concept must be made if any educational transformation is to come.

How To Be a True Hermit

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — Would you like to become a hermit?

Many people say they do, but don't know how to go about it.

Some of them are millionaires. They have found out the difference between millionaires and hermits, which is — millionaires have money, hermits have fun.

There is an amazing lack of knowledge about hermiting in America. For example, some people think hermits live in cities.

This is wrong. The so-called city hermit is merely a civilized misfit and often a miser, lonely in a lonely room. Your true hermit, on the other hand, is a woodland fellow, happy in solitude, not so much afraid of civilization as he is unwilling to be cramped by it.

There are any number of haphazard hermits who fail because they go about it in a slap-dash manner. They merely run away from home, shiver in the forest a few days or weeks, then, crestfallen, crawl meekly back to wife and job, as a parakeet returns to its cage.

It is fellows like this who give hermiting a bad name.

I have talked to a number of career hermits, and they all emphasize the need of a small amount of capital and an income of at least $100 a year.

Here's one way to go about it. With a few hundred dollars you buy a few acres of wasteland with an abandoned but habitable home on it. Then you get some seeds for your garden, a shotgun for game, and a trustworthy dog.

Next is the problem of income. Instead of paying the government, make it pay you. Write the U. S. Department of Agriculture and threaten to plant your wasted acres with wheat and flood the country unless you are included in the soil bank program in a big way. This should be good for at least $150 a year.

Another way is to form a company called, "The Happy Hermit, Inc." Write the following letter to 500 strangers:

"You know you are a miserable prisoner of civilization, too cowardly to run off and become a hermit. I am not. But I need help. If you will send me a buck, you can become a stockholder in my corporation and finance one happy hermit to a finer way of life. How about it?"

Since everybody wants to help a hermit, the money will roll in.

Would this work? Listen, if a hermit sent letters like that to 10,000 city-pen people, he could buy more land, hire half a dozen helpers, and wind up the biggest and most successful hermit in America.

Rushmore Had No Friends

By George Sokolsky

Howard Rushmore ended it all by killing his wife and himself. It was perhaps inevitable in the nature of his inner conflict. What brought such a person into the Communist Party? He was a boy of our Southern mountains but born in the North, at heart a hill-billy, proud of his colonial ancestry; he once witnessed a lynching which so disturbed his sensitive nature that he went through life seeking truth and justice, not as abstractions but as tangible, visible entities.

Naturally his disappointments were constant, almost daily. No friend measured up to Howard Rushmore's ideals; he himself was an enormous disappointment to himself, particularly in his later years when driven by kitchen economics to accept work where he could find it.

I have known so many ex-Communists who have suffered the buffets of life, at enormous sacrifice of means and dignity, and whose tribulations have been beyond human endurance. For having cut their ties with their old comrades, they were really never altogether accepted by a suspicious society which constantly asked how and why they joined the Communist Party in the first place.

Howard Rushmore was never a theoretician; he never really knew why he joined the Communist Party except that as a product of the Depression, he sought social justice. A Southerner, he hated racial discrimination; a son of the Bible Belt, he was violently anti-religious.

He found a berth in the "Daily Worker" as a movie critic— a lowly job in which he was expected to take orders, not to think. He quit over "Gone With the Wind," which he thought was wonderful, whereas the party line was to damn it. Howard refused to write the damnation.

After he left the party, he became an anti-Communist specialist for the New York Journal-American. His work was not always taken at his own valuation as to its importance, but this can be said of it, that he was the first one to make a full time job of reporting on the Communist movement.

He and Frederick Woltman specialized in this field and both established means to watch party activities almost like a police force. In fact, these reporters knew more about what was going on inside the movement than all government agencies except the FBI. Rushmore, however, never emerged beyond reporting; the whys and wherefores he could not grasp.

Anti-Communism can become an obsession like any other specialty. Furthermore, news of the American Communist movement became decreasingly important as our problems with Soviet Russia increased. Compared with the big boys working out of Moscow, the American Communists were and are actually small punks, an extension of Soviet espionage and infiltration but rarely with the truly great jobs against this country, the most important of which are developed by Russia's detour method in other countries, as, for instance, the effort to destroy a phase of the American economy by liquidating our investments in the Middle East.

Whereas Howard Rushmore was an expert on American Communism, he possessed no expert knowledge of Communist theory or its historic developments. Therefore, he did not grow in his work. He was employed for a short time by the McCarthy Committee where again he misunderstood the nature and function of the committee. He could not work with others.

And so he quarrelled with many of his old anti-Communist friends, of whom he felt that they had failed to appreciate his competence and knowledge. Embittered he landed on "Confidential" magazine, a place where he did not belong by principle, by ideals, by habits of life. He became defensive and therefore obstreperous. He hated that job and he hated the kind of people he had to meet.

He originally thought that he might have been able to use this magazine to forward the anti-Communist cause. He failed, of course, and eventually was reduced to the ugliness of testifying against himself, of humiliating himself in public.

Howard Rushmore was a sad, mountain boy, morose, looking for something he never could find. He might have been a poet; he might have been a prophet. He ended up a neurotic, frightened man for whom life had come to mean nothing. As a friend said: "He had not the will to live." He had not.

Woman Who Attempted To Kill Lenin Dies

MOSCOW (AP) — The death was reported here Wednesday of Fene Kaplan, a Russian woman counterrevolutionary of 40 years ago.

Separate advices from Moscow said this was the woman who seriously wounded Soviet Premier Nikolai Lenin on Aug. 30, 1918 in an assassination attempt. Lenin recovered from the wounds. He died Jan. 21, 1924, after suffering two strokes.

The woman was understood to have died in prison.

Coffee Break Good for You

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.

A coffee break is a boss's best friend. And if you are an office worker, it's your friend, too.

I don't think any employers expect employees to sit at a desk all day long. If you take time to relax, occasionally, you maintain your efficiency.

That's why the coffee break has become an American business necessity, especially for women office workers. You must, however, use this break in the day's routine to its best advantage.

Drink some coffee if you actually want to, but don't chat about the office with fellow workers while you do. Talk about last night's date or the one you are going to have tomorrow, but don't take your office troubles to the coffee shop with you.

Now I don't want you to become a loafer, but be sure to visit the water cooler several times each day. About two-thirds of your body is just plain water, so you can see how essential water is to you.

Water aids elimination. You can't expect your complexion to be clear or you can't expect to be bright and happy if you are constipated.

You need between six and eight glasses of water a day. So drink it whenever you can.

While we are on the subject of elimination, make it a point to go to the washroom the minute you have the desire. Don't wait until you finish that letter you are writing for the Big Shot. It can wait a few minutes and so can he.

Now, how about lunch? Again, don't take your office problems out with you.

If you are hungry, most of the plate lunches served in cafeterias and restaurants are fairly nourishing. It probably would be better, though, to order fruits, vegetables or dairy products or a combination of all three.

Be sure to drink at least one glass of milk, too.

Try to find time to take a short walk in the fresh air before getting back to the office.

If you are back before you have to pitch in again, take a few moments to sit down, place your feet up on a chair or desk and just relax.

Even if you follow all this advice, you probably will notice that your spirits begin to droop and work becomes a real effort during the late afternoon. Then it's time to relax again.

Take a minute or two to stretch your arms and legs, even your toes. Then, with your chin resting on your chest, your hands hanging loosely at your sides, tilt forward in your chair and relax.

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP)—It's like a revolt of the generals—peaceful, but a revolt—against the judgment of their commander in chief, President Eisenhower. The very timing of it may have shocked or angered him.

The nation has waited weeks—since Russia showed it was ahead in missiles by launching the Sputniks—to see what Eisenhower intended to do about matching the Soviets or trying to get ahead of them.

Today—in his State of the Union message to Congress—was his first chance to lay out his plans formally and publicly. Before he could deliver the message, two top generals blasted his administration's planning.

The two cut loose Wednesday. They were Lt. Gen. James M. Gavin, the Army's chief of research and development, and Gen. Thomas D. White, Air Force chief of staff.

It's usual in Washington to see the heads of the three branches of the armed forces complain to Congress they need more money. But the Gavin-White complaints went beyond the usual.

In the first place, this is not the typical postwar year when this country had clear-cut military superiority. It's a critical year when the American future may depend on the plans made this year.

Second, both generals know Eisenhower has been under heavy criticism for the lag in American missile development and that he is expected to do the utmost in his plans to make up for lost time.

Third, they put his 1958 programs under suspicion before he had a chance to announce them. For instance, both attacked his budget—the money he wants to spend—although he won't reveal his budget to Congress until Monday.

So far as is known neither general volunteered his opinion. Both were called to testify before the Senate's Preparedness subcommittee which has been investigating American defenses since the Sputniks went up.

Gavin went so far beyond the usual military man's complaint about needing more money that he is retiring from the Army. One of the reasons he gives is that he could not defend the amount of money Eisenhower will ask for Army research.

The Army's position, Gavin told the senators, is deteriorating rapidly and "I can't do anything about it." He added that "I can do better outside the Army than in."

White, like Gavin, testified behind closed doors. Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson, Texas Democrat and chairman of the subcommittee, made public a summary of some of the two men's testimony. He told newsmen White said these things among others:

Eisenhower has not asked enough money—either in the upcoming budget or in special funds he has requested in addition to the budget—to step up the development of the intercontinental ballistic missile.

This country is still working on two ICBM's—the Atlas and the Titan—designed to cross an ocean and a continent in a 5,000-mile flight.

You're Telling Me!

By HOYT KING
Central Press Writer

From New York comes word that the low neckline and the bare back will be in vogue for 1958. If this keeps up, 1959 will be even more in vogue.

Dress designer Ceil Chapman says "the low neckline will never disappear." Not while it's being watched like it is.

Miss Chapman is making the neckline very low this year. In fact, the collar is just about going to waist.

Designer Pauline Trigere is coming out with the "slip-cover" theme. One slip and you grab for cover.

The "slip-cover" design is aimed at making the curves count. No matter whether they count, if they're solid at geometry.

One designer goes in for a lacy, unfitted look in cocktail dresses. One lacing too many and you look unfit.

One "unfitted" line with a choice of three silhouets should be popular. Many a woman would like a different silhouet.

County Commission Powers Outlined

COLUMBUS (AP) — County commissioners do not constitute a legislative authority able to license and regulate debt pooling companies, Atty. Gen. Saxbe says.

The ruling explained that the Ohio Revised Code permits individuals to engage in debt pooling operations only if licensed and regulated by the legislative authority of the political subdivision in which the company does business.

The Home Rule Amendment of the Constitution, Saxbe said, authorized municipalities to adopt and enforce within their limits such local police, sanitary and similar regulations as are not in conflict with general laws, but that counties are not given any comparable legislative authority.

There are more than 3,740 acres of parks in Kansas City, connected by a 150-mile park drive.

Hiram College Bequest May Reach $200,000

HIRAM (AP)—Hiram College has received a $2,000 gift which may grow to nearly $200,000.

It came from John Q. Shunk, 91, a Bucyrus manufacturer.

He sppcified that the $2,000 be held in a trust fund for 100 years. If current rates of return prevail, it will increase 100 times.

After that the college can use all of the money except $2,000, which is to be invested for another 100 years.

Another way is to form a company called, "The Happy Hermit, Inc." Write the following letter to 500 strangers:

"You know you are a miserable prisoner of civilization, too cowardly to run off and become a hermit. I am not. But I need help. If you will send me a buck, you can become a stockholder in my corporation and finance one happy hermit to a finer way of life. How about it?"

Since everybody wants to help a hermit, the money will roll in.

Would this work? Listen, if a hermit sent letters like that to 10,000 city-pen people, he could buy more land, hire half a dozen helpers, and wind up the biggest and most successful hermit in America.

Rushmore Had No Friends

By George Sokolsky

Howard Rushmore ended it all by killing his wife and himself. It was perhaps inevitable in the nature of his inner conflict. What brought such a person into the Communist Party? He was a boy of our Southern mountains but born in the North, at heart a hill-billy, proud of his colonial ancestry; he once witnessed a lynching which so disturbed his sensitive nature that he went through life seeking truth and justice, not as abstractions but as tangible, visible entities.

Naturally his disappointments were constant, almost daily. No friend measured up to Howard Rushmore's ideals; he himself was an enormous disappointment to himself, particularly in his later years when driven by kitchen economics to accept work where he could find it.

I have known so many ex-Communists who have suffered the buffets of life, at enormous sacrifice of means and dignity, and whose tribulations have been beyond human endurance. For having cut their ties with their old comrades, they were really never altogether accepted by a suspicious society which constantly asked how and why they joined the Communist Party in the first place.

Howard Rushmore was never a theoretician; he never really knew why he joined the Communist Party except that as a product of the Depression, he sought social justice. A Southerner, he hated racial discrimination; a son of the Bible Belt, he was violently anti-religious.

He found a berth in the "Daily Worker" as a movie critic— a lowly job in which he was expected to take orders, not to think. He quit over "Gone With the Wind," which he thought was wonderful, whereas the party line was to damn it. Howard refused to write the damnation.

After he left the party, he became an anti-Communist specialist for the New York Journal-American. His work was not always taken at his own valuation as to its importance, but this can be said of it, that he was the first one to make a full time job of reporting on the Communist movement.

He and Frederick Woltman specialized in this field and both established means to watch party activities almost like a police force. In fact, these reporters knew more about what was going on inside the movement than all government agencies except the FBI. Rushmore, however, never emerged beyond reporting; the whys and wherefores he could not grasp.

Anti-Communism can become an obsession like any other specialty. Furthermore, news of the American Communist movement became decreasingly important as our problems with Soviet Russia increased. Compared with the big boys working out of Moscow, the American Communists were and are actually small punks, an extension of Soviet espionage and infiltration but rarely with the truly great jobs against this country, the most important of which are developed by Russia's detour method in other countries, as, for instance, the effort to destroy a phase of the American economy by liquidating our investments in the Middle East.

Whereas Howard Rushmore was an expert on American Communism, he possessed no expert knowledge of Communist theory or its historic developments. Therefore, he did not grow in his work. He was employed for a short time by the McCarthy Committee where again he misunderstood the nature and function of the committee. He could not work with others.

And so he quarrelled with many of his old anti-Communist friends, of whom he felt that they had failed to appreciate his competence and knowledge. Embittered he landed on "Confidential" magazine, a place where he did not belong by principle, by ideals, by habits of life. He became defensive and therefore obstreperous. He hated that job and he hated the kind of people he had to meet.

He originally thought that he might have been able to use this magazine to forward the anti-Communist cause. He failed, of course, and eventually was reduced to the ugliness of testifying against himself, of humiliating himself in public.

Howard Rushmore was a sad, mountain boy, morose, looking for something he never could find. He might have been a poet; he might have been a prophet. He ended up a neurotic, frightened man for whom life had come to mean nothing. As a friend said: "He had not the will to live." He had not.

Woman Who Attempted To Kill Lenin Dies

MOSCOW (AP) — The death was reported here Wednesday of Fene Kaplan, a Russian woman counterrevolutionary of 40 years ago.

Separate advices from Moscow said this was the woman who seriously wounded Soviet Premier Nikolai Lenin on Aug. 30, 1918 in an assassination attempt. Lenin recovered from the wounds. He died Jan. 21, 1924, after suffering two strokes.

The woman was understood to have died in prison.

A "YOU-ALL" MISS enjoyed her first visit to the Hayden planetarium. She was particularly fascinated by the telescope—something she never had seen before. "Well, now I understand how you wonderful astronomer boys discover new stars," she cooed to the guide, "but I still don't see how you find out their names!"

Coffee Break Good for You

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.

A coffee break is a boss's best friend. And if you are an office worker, it's your friend, too.

I don't think any employers expect employees to sit at a desk all day long. If you take time to relax, occasionally, you maintain your efficiency.

That's why the coffee break has become an American business necessity, especially for women office workers. You must, however, use this break in the day's routine to its best advantage.

Drink some coffee if you actually want to, but don't chat about the office with fellow workers while you do. Talk about last night's date or the one you are going to have tomorrow, but don't take your office troubles to the coffee shop with you.

Now I don't want you to become a loafer, but be sure to visit the water cooler several times each day. About two-thirds of your body is just plain water, so you can see how essential water is to you.

Water aids elimination. You can't expect your complexion to be clear or you can't expect to be bright and happy if you are constipated.

You need between six and eight glasses of water a day. So drink it whenever you can.

While we are on the subject of elimination, make it a point to go to the washroom the minute you have the desire. Don't wait until you finish that letter you are writing for the Big Shot. It can wait a few minutes and so can he.

Now, how about lunch? Again, don't take your office problems out with you.

If you are hungry, most of the plate lunches served in cafeterias and restaurants are fairly nourishing. It probably would be better, though, to order fruits, vegetables or dairy products or a combination of all three.

Be sure to drink at least one glass of milk, too.

Try to find time to take a short walk in the fresh air before getting back to the office.

If you are back before you have to pitch in again, take a few moments to sit down, place your feet up on a chair or desk and just relax.

Even if you follow all this advice, you probably will notice that your spirits begin to droop and work becomes a real effort during the late afternoon. Then it's time to relax again.

Take a minute or two to stretch your arms and legs, even your toes. Then, with your chin resting on your chest, your hands hanging loosely at your sides, tilt forward in your chair and relax.

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP)—It's like a revolt of the generals—peaceful, but a revolt—against the judgment of their commander in chief, President Eisenhower. The very timing of it may have shocked or angered him.

The nation has waited weeks—since Russia showed it was ahead in missiles by launching the Sputniks—to see what Eisenhower intended to do about matching the Soviets or trying to get ahead of them.

Today—in his State of the Union message to Congress—was his first chance to lay out his plans formally and publicly. Before he could deliver the message, two top generals blasted his administration's planning.

The two cut loose Wednesday. They were Lt. Gen. James M. Gavin, the Army's chief of research and development, and Gen. Thomas D. White, Air Force chief of staff.

It's usual in Washington to see the heads of the three branches of the armed forces complain to Congress they need more money. But the Gavin-White complaints went beyond the usual.

In the first place, this is not the typical postwar year when this country had clear-cut military superiority. It's a critical year when the American future may depend on the plans made this year.

Second, both generals know Eisenhower has been under heavy criticism for the lag in American missile development and that he is expected to do the utmost in his plans to make up for lost time.

Third, they put his 1958 programs under suspicion before he had a chance to announce them. For instance, both attacked his budget—the money he wants to spend—although he won't reveal his budget to Congress until Monday.

So far as is known neither general volunteered his opinion. Both were called to testify before the Senate's Preparedness subcommittee which has been investigating American defenses since the Sputniks went up.

Gavin went so far beyond the usual military man's complaint about needing more money that he is retiring from the Army. One of the reasons he gives is that he could not defend the amount of money Eisenhower will ask for Army research.

The Army's position, Gavin told the senators, is deteriorating rapidly and "I can't do anything about it." He added that "I can do better outside the Army than in."

White, like Gavin, testified behind closed doors. Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson, Texas Democrat and chairman of the subcommittee, made public a summary of some of the two men's testimony. He told newsmen White said these things among others:

Eisenhower has not asked enough money—either in the upcoming budget or in special funds he has requested in addition to the budget—to step up the development of the intercontinental ballistic missile.

This country is still working on two ICBM's—the Atlas and the Titan—designed to cross an ocean and a continent in a 5,000-mile flight.

County Commission Powers Outlined

COLUMBUS (AP) — County commissioners do not constitute a legislative authority able to license and regulate debt pooling companies, Atty. Gen. Saxbe says.

The ruling explained that the Ohio Revised Code permits individuals to engage in debt pooling operations only if licensed and regulated by the legislative authority of the political subdivision in which the company does business.

The Home Rule Amendment of the Constitution, Saxbe said, authorized municipalities to adopt and enforce within their limits such local police, sanitary and similar regulations as are not in conflict with general laws, but that counties are not given any comparable legislative authority.

Hiram College Bequest May Reach $200,000

HIRAM (AP)—Hiram College has received a $2,000 gift which may grow to nearly $200,000.

It came from John Q. Shunk, 91, a Bucyrus manufacturer.

He sppcified that the $2,000 be held in a trust fund for 100 years. If current rates of return prevail, it will increase 100 times.

After that the college can use all of the money except $2,000, which is to be invested for another 100 years.

From New York comes word that the low neckline and the bare back will be in vogue for 1958. If this keeps up, 1959 will be even more in vogue.

Dress designer Ceil Chapman says "the low neckline will never disappear." Not while it's being watched like it is.

Miss Chapman is making the neckline very low this year. In fact, the collar is just about going to waist.

Designer Pauline Trigere is coming out with the "slip-cover" theme. One slip and you grab for cover.

The "slip-cover" design is aimed at making the curves count. No matter whether they count, if they're solid at geometry.

One designer goes in for a lacy, unfitted look in cocktail dresses. One lacing too many and you look unfit.

One "unfitted" line with a choice of three silhouets should be popular. Many a woman would like a different silhouet.

VA Physicals Are Explained

Shift in College Course Has Limit

(Veterans who have a question should contact Pickaway County Veterans Service Officer Jim Shea. His offices are in the basement of the Courthouse in Circleville.)

Q — I would like to get a complete physical exam. I am not feeling well at all. Can I go to a VA Hospital or a VA Medical Clinic for this exam?

A — I am sorry but you cannot. The VA will not permit a veteran to go to a hospital or to one of their medical clinic's for an exam unless it is for a service connected disability, and they have authorized it in advance. Just because you are a veteran, and do not feel well, does notgive the right to enter a VA hospital or medical clinic for an exam.

Q — I entered the service in Feb. 1955. I have recently been discharged. Am I eligible for mustering-out Pay?

A — No you are not. Only veterans who served on active duty between June 27, 1950, and Jan. 31, 1955 may qualify for mustering-out pay.

Q — I have been out of the service 2½ years. I am currently going to college under the Korean GI Bill. Next fall, I desire to change my course in college, and study something else, can I do this?

A — No you Cannot. The law states that a veteran may make only one change of course prior to his delimiting date. The delimiting date is three years from the date of your separation from service. By next fall you will have passed your delimiting date, and will not be permitted to change your course.

Q — Can a veteran receive pay from the Veterans Administration and Social Security benefits both at the same time?

A — That is a tough question to answer, in that the answer should by rights, be a very lengthy one. However, to be as brief as possible, the answer is both yes and no. A veteran between the ages of 50 and 65, who is eligible for Social Security benefits, and who is receiving total non service connected pension from the VA will have his VA benefit deducted from his Social Security pay. However, if this same veteran were receiving a Service Connected Compensation, there would be no reduction of Social Security Benefits. Now, when a veteran reaches the age of 65, his Social Security Benefits will not be reduced, even though he is reciving Total Non Service Connected Pension from the VA.

Q — I have heard rumors to the effect that certain groups of people would like to have the veterans Total Non Service Connected Pension stopped altogether. Is that correct?

A — That is correct. Certain groups of people have been trying for years to have Non Service Connected Benefits, as well as Service Connected benefits below 40 per cent taken away completely. No doubt the attempt again will be made in 1958, but with the help of veterans organizations such as the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and the Disabled Veterans, it might be stopped. Here is something which would benefit all veterans and their dependents to keep an eye on in the future.

Employe Said Fired for Aid To U.S. Prober

CLEVELAND (AP)—An allegation that an employe of the Whirlpool Corp., Marion, Ohio division, was fired last November because he cooperated with an investigator from the U.S. Senate's McClellan Committee has been made the basis of an unfair labor practices charge.

Charles A. Litell, a former Whirlpool employe, filed the charge with the National Labor Relations Board here, naming Eldon Phillips as the employe discharged.

John A. Hull, regional NLRB director, said the charge would be investigated "within another week or so."

Litell's charge said that Phillips' job at Whirlpool was terminated about Nov. 22 "because of his cooperation with and testimony to an agent of the NLRB and an investigator of the select senate committee on improper activities in the labor management field." The charge said further that the company had refused to reinstate Phillips.

Also on file with the NLRB here is a petition from the United Auto Workers for a collective bargaining representation election among 1,200 Whirlpool employes. No date for the election has yet been set. In a UAW bid to win bargaining rights several years ago, workers voted for no union.

Litell testified before the McClellan committee late last year that he had been employed as a labor spy at Whirlpool by Nathan Shefferman, Chicago management consultant, during a period in which the UAW was seeking to organize Whirlpool workers. Later Litell shifted his allegiance from Shefferman to the UAW.

Pickaway Country Club Ends Social Year with Luncheon

Club To Be Closed During February

The January social committee of the Pickaway Country Club is announcing the dates for the three concluding social activities of the club year.

Serving on this Committee with chairmen Mr. and Mrs. James E. Canning, Jr., will be Dr. and Mrs. Ray Carroll, Mr. and Mrs. C. K. Vaughn, and Mr. and Mrs. Lewis D. Young. The club will be closed through the month of February.

A couples' Bridge Party is planned for 7:30 p. m. January 18. Late refreshments will be served and prizes will be awarded for top scores.

Members and their families are invited to a Covered Dish Supper at 5 p. m. on Sunday, January 19, and are asked to bring their own table service. Coffee will be furnished, and milk will be available for the children.

A bridge uncheon is scheduled for 12:30 p. m. January 21, for the ladies of the Club. Reservations for luncheon may be made by telephone with Mrs. Vaughn, 986- W, or Mrs. Canning, 1120-L, or by signing on the Club bulletin board.

With the conclusion of the 1957-1958 social calendar, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Carlsen will end their year as General Social Chairmen. In a letter to the membership, they have expressed their appreciation to each of the eleven monthly social committees and to Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Crites for their cooperation in carrying out the social activities of the club.

Disarmament Petition Explained to Auxiliary

Mrs. J. E. Groom and Mrs. Andrew Thomas served as hospitality chairmen for the recent regular meeting of St. Philip's Woman's Auxiliary.

After a report of the treasury situation for the year, the decision was made to currently pay a portion of the usual pledge to the general Parish Fund and anticipate a later substantial contribution to the Organ purchase fund.

Miss Jessie Craven explained a petition to President Eisenhower as arranged by The American Friends Society. The purpose is to urge cessation of atomic tests as a definite lead toward genuine disarmament. Any risks involved in this move are considered to be less than those concerned in continuous armament.

In further interest of the Christian Social Relations phase of the total program, the following representatives are attending the annual Inter-Church, Inter-Racial meeting sponsored by The Women's Society of World Service at the First Evangelical United Brethren Church: Mrs. Groom, Mrs. N. T. Weldon, Mrs. Howard Moore, Miss Craven and Miss Bess Fry.

Miss Fry elaborated on the presentation of food and toy gifts at Christmas time to two deserving local families.

Preliminary plans were made for the next regular meeting, the theme of which will be: "Know Your Youth". The youth group will be special guests for the 6:30 smorgasbord Feb. 5th, as well as the following meeting and program.

The concluding feature was a practical discussion of the Hymnal as approved for use by The Episcopal Churches. This was conducted by Mrs. Moore, director of the senior choir.

Writing Kiddie Stories Still Takes Hard Work

LULLABIES — Singing lullabies doesn't prepare you for opera.

I have never heard a woman say, "I just love singing lullabies to my children, and they love the way I sing. I must audition for the Metropolitan Opera when I get the time." But hundreds of times, in any given year, women write me and say, "I love to tell stories to my children, and they just love the stories I tell. Someday, when I get time, I'll write books for children."

We all take it for granted that singing takes study, practice and talent, but that writing is something just anyone can do. Actually, writing takes every bit as much study, practice and talent as singing does.

I don't mean that none of these women have, or could have, what it takes to write children's stories, successfully. But the mere fact that their own children love the stories they tell just proves one thing. The children love their Mommy!

But what can you do if you really do like selling stories to children and really want to write them for publication?

Well, first you'll have to set aside a regular period of time every day to learn your scales, so to speak. You'll have to clear an hour or two to really work on the writing.

Begin by writing down the stories you tell your children. (If you haven't any, practice on nieces, nephews or neighbors' children.) Chances are, you'll find that, without benefit of tone of voice and narrative delivery, they're pretty flat!

Write and rewrite them and see if they come out any better. Then try them on a new group of children.

Visit your local library and browse through the children's books. Talk to the librarian about children's habits and interests and about the books they take out most often. You'll learn a lot.

Then get some good books on writing for children, and really study them. I'll send you a list of the best ones if you'll send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope, care of this newspaper.

By reading and studying in the field, you'll begin to get a clear idea of what is wanted and you'll find out, soon enough, if what you can produce is the kind that sells.

If not, do put your energy into finding some other outlet for your creative urge. Don't let yourself persist for years in turning out unsaleable stories and making excuses such as, "They never read the work of a beginner." If writing isn't your talent, something else is. So get busy and look for it.

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: John is 70 and Elizabeth is 50. They have been devoted to each other for 25 years. It is a very good relationship; frowned on by none; respected, accepted. They are loved by all who know them.

They have not been able to marry because of family responsibilities. John has two older spinster sisters, also a niece and nephew in their forties, neither of them married; and he always has made his home with them.

Elizabeth has devoted all her time to John, working with him in his business as well. He has an estate worth about $100,000; and we wonder whether—in view of his family responsibilities—there is an obligation, ethical or moral, to apportion some part of his estate to Elizabeth? (He doesn't know of our interest.)

Please believe us, a right decision in this matter is very important.

K. S.

DEAR K. S.: It is nonsense to claim that a bachelor businessman with properties amounting to $100,000 has been denied marriage due to family responsibilities. In John's case, that is just an excuse for staying on the immature side of life—along with his older spinster sisters, and the niece and nephew (now in their forties) who've never been married.

A man with that much of a backlog at age 70 has been a pretty sound operator, financially, for a good many years, I should gue He has made a solid success, if not a spectacular fortune; hence is frugal and cautious by nature.

He has bested Elizabeth insidiously. He has put over a negative deal in an indirect way, sidestepping ethical considerations instead of coming to grips with the issue and making a positive investment in favor of Elizabeth.

Now you are asking, in effect: does he owe Elizabeth a widow's recompense in his estate, in the event of his death — inasmuch as she has been at his side for the last quarter century?

It could be argued, against the idea, that Elizabeth has thrown her life away on John by her own choice, with her eyes open—since his perennial failure to marry her proved long ago that he offered nothing wholehearted or permanent. A man's actions speak louder than words in matters of the kind, as every woman knows, who will face the facts of life.

In the last analysis, the question rests with John and Elizabeth, as to what he owes her in a final accounting of their partnership. Rather, the answer rests with John—as to the outcome. I doubt that Elizabeth could substantiate a collectable claim to a share in his estate, if he doesn't remember her in his will.

However, if John's conscience is still responsive to righteous principles at this writing, and not dead as a doornail due to hardened selfishness, he can't help feeling an ingrained duty, after all these years, to leave something worthwhile to her, from the final distribution of his estate.

Harvesting Company Increasing Payroll

CHICAGO (AP)—International Harvester Co. reports that its employment in manufacturing plants and raw materials operations rose by almost 1,000 in December.

The Jan. 2 payroll was 47,473, a gain of 969 over Dec. 1 and the highest payroll in these operations since August. All divisions of the company except steel contributed to the increase.

New Section On Freeway Up for Bids

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Only one section of the Cincinnati to Conneaut Freeway will be up for bids Jan. 21. It is the first time this year contractors will have a chance to get state highway construction contracts.

The 4.7-mile section is in southern Morrow County and the Highway Department estimates it will cost about six million dollars. It will tie-in with a Freeway section already under construction to the south.

The Highway Department had intended to open bids the same day on a Freeway section in Franklin and Delaware counties, but plans for structures it will include will not be ready. Bids will be opened on that section Feb. 4.

Late last year, the department opened bids on a sizeable number of Freeway sections, to bring to 33 miles the amount of the Freeway placed under contract.

The Morrow County section is to be completed Aug. 31, 1959. Total length of paving, including bridges, is 6.2 miles.

Bridges will carry the freeway over the New York Central Railroad and Big Walnut Creek. Other bridges will carry Ohio 229, County Road 26 and Twp. Road 21 over the Freeway.

The department also will open bids Jan. 21 on a project to relocate one mile of Ohio 89 south of Jeromesville in Ashland County. Two sharp curves will be eliminated and bridges will be built over Glenn Run, Old Town Run and Jerome Fork.

Steel Mills Doubt No Big Sag Ahead

NEW YORK (AP)—Steel mills are convinced they are not in for a full-fledged recession despite the current "sour" market, Iron Age, metalworking weekly, says.

The publication said the mills "don't know when the turn for the better will come, but they know it will—perhaps as early as the second quarter."

Iron Age said the automotive steel market may come to life in the second quarter.

"Most observers of the auto labor scene," the magazine said, "figure that the odds favor a strike over union demands in the midyear contract negotiations. This, they figure, will prompt car makers to stock up on new models as a hedge against a shutdown."

Did Soviet Fire A 'Man' Rocket?

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Did the Russians shoot up a manned rocket or didn't they?

The Associated Press Moscow bureau relayed a report Monday—attributed to reliable, nonofficial, sources—that such a rocket had gone up 186.41 miles just after the first of the year and that the man aboard had parachuted successfully.

Early scientific reaction that it was a logical and possible next step on the race into space was quickly replaced by skepticism in the West. The Russians clamped down stringent censorship on the matter and about all that came through were statements by various officials that they knew nothing about it.

Who were the reliable sources?

Why are the Russians so stringently censoring efforts to find out more about the rocketman report?

Harold K. Milks, AP bureau chief in Moscow, tried to give some answers in a telephone call Wednesday. The gist of his report was that he and Roy Essoyan, AP staffer in Moscow, had first heard the reports about 48 hours before they sent anything, from an Eastern European correspondent, then from another, and then from a Western correspondent who reported hearing it from a third East European correspondent.

"About 12 hours later we heard the same story from a Western embassy," Milks said. "We still had not put anything out. Then..."

At this point the connection was broken, presumably by the censor. Attempts to get through are continuing in an effort to get some clue about the reliable sources.

Moscow correspondents heard about the reports before a Sunday Moscow radio broadcast of a fictional dramatization of a manned Sputnik, to which some attribute Monday's rocketman reports.

Soviet officials in London privately are saying it seems possible any manned rocket project would be a military project and that it is possible Moscow civilian officials, who are denying knowledge, actually are uninformed, as they say.

East European correspondents often are briefed on stories in Moscow, and there is the possibility that a planned official rocketman announcement was canceled or deferred because something went wrong.

In his conversation before he was cut off, Milks commented: "They've been holding up every mention if it (the rocketman story) now."

Why?

Because the rocketman report cut heavily into Moscow's big propaganda story of the day—an announced cut of 300,000 men in the Soviet armed forces?

Because it might be damaging to focus world attention on military experiments while a Soviet peace campaign is under way?

Because something went wrong?

Because it isn't true?

The Associated Press is doing everything possible to get the true answers to these questions.

Youngstown Councilman Is Accused

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—Police today sought a Youngstown city councilman on a charge of issuing a check without having sufficient funds.

A warrant for the arrest of John J. Tobin Jr., 29, was issued by the city prosecutor's office Wednesday on the complaint of John Dorrington, manager of an automobile rental agency, who told authorities that a $75 check Tobin gave him Saturday was no good.

Tobin has been missing since Saturday. His disappearance was disclosed Monday night when he failed to show up for the first meeting of the new City Council, to which he was elected from the sixth ward.

Also missing are Paul E. Shade, Tobin's business associate and campaign manager in the council race, and Shade's wife.

The councilman's wife and their four children were located Wednesday in Long Beach, Calif., at the home of Tobin's mother, Mrs. James L. McKane.

Mrs. Tobin told the Youngstown Vindicator by telephone that she and the children left here Saturday afternoon and took a plane from Pittsburgh that night, arriving in Long Beach Sunday.

She said they were accompanied by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Remigio Carozzo, and that Tobin had promised to join them later if he could arrange for a vacation. She said she had no idea as to her husband's whereabouts.

The warrant against Tobin was based on a single check, but Dorrington told authorities there were two others cashed by his firm Saturday—another for $75 and one for $120. The $75 checks were signed "John Tobin" and the $120 check was signed "Jack Tobin," he said.

City law director Felix Mike said Wednesday that council could declare Tobin's seat vacant if he fails to show up for its next regular meeting Jan. 15.

Tobin is an adjuster for an insurance company. He and Shade, who also disappeared Saturday, are associates in a dairy here.

Weeky Food Review

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Hot items for the home plate this week are eggs, chicken fryers and some of the cheaper cuts of beef.

Eggs constitute a real bargain—down anywhere from 6 to 12 cents a dozen around the country.

Emphasis on the less expensive cuts of meat reflects a seasonal tight supply. Prominently featured this weekend will be boneless pot roasts, beef blade and cross rib roasts, chuck steak and hamburger. Sirloin, up four to six cents a pound in various areas, will get relatively little promotion.

Chicken fryers, which have held to the 39-cents-a-pound level in the metropolitan area for almost six months, are offered in some areas this week at 33 cents.

The most heavily spotlighted pork items are smoked boneless butts, rib ends, sausage and chops, rather than the big familiar hams.

Bargains in vegetables are not too plentiful this week. The best buys are potatoes and onions from local fields. Prices of both these basic staples are headed higher.

The Florida freeze a fortnight ago is reflected in somewhat higher than usual seasonal prices for egg plant, beans, pepper, cucumbers and tomatoes.

The embargo on shipments of Florida citrus has ended and oranges, grapefruit and tangerines from that state are in somewhat better supply and a bit lower in price in recent weeks. However prices on these probably will remain higher than usual throughout the winter, according to market experts.

Norwegian Envoy to U.S. Ends 47 Years of Service

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Like many other diplomatic and official families who have retired from public life, Norway's veteran ambassador Wilhelm Munthe de Morgenstierne and his wife have adopted Washington as their permanent address.

The respected and popular dean of the diplomatic corps and the charming Canadian-born Mrs. de Morgenstierne were feted up and down Embassy Row, and by official and social Washington at a raft of "farewell" parties before moving to a two-bedroom apartment here.

De Morgenstierne, ambassador for 23 years, first came to this country some 47 years ago. He recalls the early days before Norway had an embassy here, when he served as an assistant to the mission chief. He used to ride a bicycle to work. Once he walked to Baltimore to pay off a bet. In 1925 he married the tall, blue-eyed Marjorie Elizabeth Alder of Winnepeg and in 1929 he was appointed consul general in New York.

"When we moved to the embassy in 1934 there was barely a stick of furniture in the place," Marjorie de Morgenstierne told me—"only a carved Norwegian cupboard and a small oil painting. We moved the family furniture from New York and filled out the gaps with things I bought at auctions."

Only a few of these pieces will be taken to furnish the apartment. The rest the Norwegian government purchased as permanent embassy fixtures, much to the relief of the new envoy, Paul Gruda Koht, 44, who comes from Copenhagen, Denmark, where he's been serving as Norwegian charge d'affaires.

During her tenure as chatelaine, Mrs. de Morgenstierne kept the embassy as truly a part of her adopted country as if it had been in the heart of Oslo. The family conversed in Norwegian. All the servants were Norwegian. Norwegian dishes comprised the daily as well as party fare, and Norwegian customs were observed meticulously.

As the capital's top ranking diplomatic couple, the de Morgenstiernes' presence at all diplomatic and official functions was a must. They were obliged to dine out at least three nights a week and sometimes twice in one evening.

"I adore parties, but I love being a hostess more than being a guest," the envoy's wife said.

Most of her dinner parties were small, but a grand and colorful buffet and reception was given annually for the vice president or secretary of state.

Did Soviet Fire A 'Man' Rocket?

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Did the Russians shoot up a manned rocket or didn't they?

The Associated Press Moscow bureau relayed a report Monday—attributed to reliable, nonofficial, sources—that such a rocket had gone up 186.41 miles just after the first of the year and that the man aboard had parachuted successfully.

Early scientific reaction that it was a logical and possible next step on the race into space was quickly replaced by skepticism in the West. The Russians clamped down stringent censorship on the matter and about all that came through were statements by various officials that they knew nothing about it.

Who were the reliable sources?

Why are the Russians so stringently censoring efforts to find out more about the rocketman report?

Harold K. Milks, AP bureau chief in Moscow, tried to give some answers in a telephone call Wednesday. The gist of his report was that he and Roy Essoyan, AP staffer in Moscow, had first heard the reports about 48 hours before they sent anything, from an Eastern European correspondent, then from another, and then from a Western correspondent who reported hearing it from a third East European correspondent.

Norwegian Envoy to U.S. Ends 47 Years of Service

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Like many other diplomatic and official families who have retired from public life, Norway's veteran ambassador Wilhelm Munthe de Morgenstierne and his wife have adopted Washington as their permanent address.

The respected and popular dean of the diplomatic corps and the charming Canadian-born Mrs. de Morgenstierne were feted up and down Embassy Row, and by official and social Washington at a raft of "farewell" parties before moving to a two-bedroom apartment here.

De Morgenstierne, ambassador for 23 years, first came to this country some 47 years ago. Ike's Message Supposed To Calm Nerves

Military Fund Hike To Be Coupled with Home Economy Boost

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—President Eisenhower's State of the Union message today is supposed to alert Americans to the overseas threat to national security and to calm the nerves of those who fear for the health of the domestic economy.

Congressional leaders who have been briefed on both today's message and the federal budget still to come say that the administration program seems based on two aims:

1. Increased military spending to meet the Russians' advance in missiles without cutting back much if any on domestic spending.

2. A boost to the domestic economy by the increase in federal spending to a peace time record of 74 billion dollars. It is hoped this will halt the recession by midyear and then hike collections from corporate and individual income taxes enough to bring the budget into balance by mid 1959.

The Russian military threat seems real enough to justify a speedup in our defense program even though that means another postponement of the long promised tax cuts.

And businessmen who a couple of years back pooh-poohed talk of any real economic competition from Russia are now taking this threat seriously, too. Spending to meet the cold trade war could take the form either of an increase in foreign aid or of an easing of terms in American loans to underdeveloped nations.

Although they feel that American consumer spending will be the decisive factor in the timing of the recession, many businessmen feel that the pump priming to the economy from the increased federal spending all along the line should help to cushion and perhaps reverse the downtrend in industrial activity.

But, even more, it should bolster confidence among those tending of late to panic at the slowdown in factory output and the rise in unemployment.

Some guess that it was fear of the extent of the recession which led to what is called a reversal of administration policy on domestic spending.

After Sputnik startled the American public, the general belief was that spending on missiles would be advanced but that the administration would try to hold the general budget in balance by cutting back on domestic spending for programs of a welfare nature. The President at first indicated as much.

But those who have seen the budget say that it calls for 74 billion dollars over all and for about 40 billion for the Defense Department. This would leave 34 billion for other spending. Much of this is fixed by law. More than seven billion must be spent on interest on the federal debt. Spending for veterans and farmers is also largely set by past legislation.

The betting, however, now is that there will be little if any cutting back by Congress in all the many other programs the federal government takes a hand in—even the local pork barrel projects so dear to the constituents of individual congressmen.

Today at least the late economy drive looks awfully dead.

$1,500-a-Week Star Tells Reasons for His Bankruptcy

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—How does a well-known star, capable of earning $1,500 a week and not given to high living, manage to go bankrupt?

This is what I asked Dick Contino, the handsome accordionist who last week filed a bankruptcy petition listing $51,983 in debts.

The answer would be simple if the 28-year-old Fresno boy threw his money around. But he doesn't. He lives comfortably, but not lavishly by Hollywood standards. He drives a medium-priced 1957 car. He lives in a $140-a-month Glendale apartment with his wife, beauteous Leigh Snowden, and their 3-week-old daughter.

He served a term at McNeil Island Federal Prison in 1951 as a draft dodger, later went into the Army and saw duty in Korea. He returned to resume his career. Despite his fears, he did very well.

The start of his financial downfall, he said, was an engagement in Reno. The income tax people discounted some expenses for his father, who always traveled with him. The government picked up the entire Reno check.

"I suppose I could have fought it," Dick said, "but I was like the kid who touched a hot stove. I had come out of McNeil Island and out of the Army, and I didn't want any more trouble with the government. I said to let them take the money."

Night club bookings became scarce. Maybe it was bad nitery business generally. Maybe it was fear of the draft-dodger name-calling. Dick took whatever jobs he could find, jumping all over the country and running up traveling expenses.

"Then I was talked into starting my own band," he said.

The band did good business, but Dick was snowed under by the bills. Owing money to a former agent and to Uncle Sam, he had no other choice but bankruptcy.

Governor Pondering Plea for Clemency

COLUMBUS (AP) — Gov. C. William O'Neill heard a plea Wednesday for clemency for Robert Mohraus, 23, scheduled to die in Ohios electric chair Friday night.

The governor withheld comment and gave no indication of what his decision will be on Mohraus, who was convicted of the slaying of Mrs. Leona McCrocklin, 74, during a 1956 burglary in Cincinnati.

The clemency plea was presented by Harry H. McIlwain, a Cincinnati attorney who believes Mohrhaus is mentally ill although he has been judged legally sane.

Ike's Message Supposed To Calm Nerves

Military Fund Hike To Be Coupled with Home Economy Boost

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—President Eisenhower's State of the Union message today is supposed to alert Americans to the overseas threat to national security and to calm the nerves of those who fear for the health of the domestic economy.

Congressional leaders who have been briefed on both today's message and the federal budget still to come say that the administration program seems based on two aims:

1. Increased military spending to meet the Russians' advance in missiles without cutting back much if any on domestic spending.

2. A boost to the domestic economy by the increase in federal spending to a peace time record of 74 billion dollars. It is hoped this will halt the recession by midyear and then hike collections from corporate and individual income taxes enough to bring the budget into balance by mid 1959.

The Russian military threat seems real enough to justify a speedup in our defense program even though that means another postponement of the long promised tax cuts.

And businessmen who a couple of years back pooh-poohed talk of any real economic competition from Russia are now taking this threat seriously, too. Spending to meet the cold trade war could take the form either of an increase in foreign aid or of an easing of terms in American loans to underdeveloped nations.

Although they feel that American consumer spending will be the decisive factor in the timing of the recession, many businessmen feel that the pump priming to the economy from the increased federal spending all along the line should help to cushion and perhaps reverse the downtrend in industrial activity.

But, even more, it should bolster confidence among those tending of late to panic at the slowdown in factory output and the rise in unemployment.

Some guess that it was fear of the extent of the recession which led to what is called a reversal of administration policy on domestic spending.

After Sputnik startled the American public, the general belief was that spending on missiles would be advanced but that the administration would try to hold the general budget in balance by cutting back on domestic spending for programs of a welfare nature. The President at first indicated as much.

But those who have seen the budget say that it calls for 74 billion dollars over all and for about 40 billion for the Defense Department. This would leave 34 billion for other spending. Much of this is fixed by law. More than seven billion must be spent on interest on the federal debt. Spending for veterans and farmers is also largely set by past legislation.

The betting, however, now is that there will be little if any cutting back by Congress in all the many other programs the federal government takes a hand in—even the local pork barrel projects so dear to the constituents of individual congressmen.

Today at least the late economy drive looks awfully dead.

$1,500-a-Week Star Tells Reasons for His Bankruptcy

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—How does a well-known star, capable of earning $1,500 a week and not given to high living, manage to go bankrupt?

This is what I asked Dick Contino, the handsome accordionist who last week filed a bankruptcy petition listing $51,983 in debts.

The answer would be simple if the 28-year-old Fresno boy threw his money around. But he doesn't. He lives comfortably, but not lavishly by Hollywood standards. He drives a medium-priced 1957 car. He lives in a $140-a-month Glendale apartment with his wife, beauteous Leigh Snowden, and their 3-week-old daughter.

He served a term at McNeil Island Federal Prison in 1951 as a draft dodger, later went into the Army and saw duty in Korea. He returned to resume his career. Despite his fears, he did very well.

The start of his financial downfall, he said, was an engagement in Reno. The income tax people discounted some expenses for his father, who always traveled with him. The government picked up the entire Reno check.

"I suppose I could have fought it," Dick said, "but I was like the kid who touched a hot stove. I had come out of McNeil Island and out of the Army, and I didn't want any more trouble with the government. I said to let them take the money."

Night club bookings became scarce. Maybe it was bad nitery business generally. Maybe it was fear of the draft-dodger namecalling. Dick took whatever jobs he could find, jumping all over the country and running up traveling expenses.

"Then I was talked into starting my own band," he said.

The band did good business, but Dick was snowed under by the bills. Owing money to a former agent and to Uncle Sam, he had no other choice but bankruptcy.

Most Ohio Drunk Drivers Handed Sentences in Jail

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ever since late 1953, persons convicted of drunk driving on Ohio highways have served at least three days in jail—generally speaking, that is.

The three-day minimum jail sentence is state law, effective Oct. 21, 1953. But police in municipalities have the option of charging drivers under state law or municipal ordinances. Some municipalities—none of the major ones — do not have ordinances making the three-day sentence mandatory.

Has the state law reduced drunk driving convictions? Figures available from the Ohio Department of Highway Safety fail to indicate such a trend, although they could be misleading.

In 1952, last full year before the law became effective, Ohio's courts of record reported 8,258 drunk driving convictions.

In 1954, first full year during which the law was effective, the number of convictions in courts of record jumped to 9,713. The totals have risen steadily every year since. In 1955 the total was 10,617; in 1956 it was 1,542; in the first 11 months of 1957 the total was 13,186.

The possibility of misleading figures arises from this fact: During the period covered by the above figures, Ohio had two types of courts—in which many traffic violators were tried—which were not courts of record. They were the mayor's courts and the courts of justices of the peace—Ohio's now-defunct rural magistrate system.

Since these courts were not courts of record, they did not report their convictions of drunk drivers to the Ohio Department of Highway Safety.

But, beginning about 1955, there was a widespread move to bring many rural areas and villages under the jurisdiction of bit-city municipal courts, which are courts of record.

Thus, many a drunk driver's conviction in a rural area in 1953 would not have been reported to the state. But, in succeeding years, drunk driving convictions in the same rural areas would have been reported through the municipal courts which had taken jurisdiction.

Most city courts are tougher on drunk drivers than the minimum set by state law. The average punishment for 1,520 drunk drivers in Cleveland last year was 10 days in the workhouse; the Akron average was 10 days in jail plus a $100 fine and six months' driver license suspension; Cincinnati sent 526 drunk drivers to the workhouse in the first 11 months of 1957.

Army OKs Gavin Retirement Efforts To Keep Him Fail

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lt. Gen. James M. Gavin's request for retirement has been approved by Secretary of the Army Brucker after a final effort to keep the critic of defense policies in uniform.

"I have done my best to persuade him to stay," Brucker said in announcing that he had "reluctantly" approved Gavin's application to retire March 31 after completing 30 years of Army service.

Gavin, chief of Army research and development, earlier in the day had told the Senate Preparedness subcommittee his decision to retire was final. Brucker said he made one more try at getting Gavin to change his mind, even after the general had taken this position.

Spurning Pentagon offers of promotion to full general within 14 months and a choice of two assignments until then, Gavin told senators, "I can do better for the Army outside than in."

"He spoke of the Army's position as deteriorating rapidly.

He complained that Army strength and budget allocations have been whittled down over the past four years while Russian strength has been growing. He contends the Army needs thousands of planes, missiles and much more freedom in planning.

Talking with newsmen after his appearance before the Senate subcommittee, Gavin said "there is not one red penny" for the Army in President Eisenhower's emergency request for $1,260,000,000 in additional defense funds for this fiscal year ending June 30.

The general added that "I have been begging for money—money for the antimissile, money for a space program."

A number of Congress members have expressed concern over Gavin's plan to retire, saying officers of his caliber are needed badly now.

Gavin gave no clear idea of what he hoped to accomplish for the Army when he becomes a civilian, or how he plans to go about it. He told newsmen he had no particular plans for the future.

There were no outward evidences of any bad feeling beween Gavin and Brucker, his present boss.

Maj. Gen. Harry Storke, chief of Army information, said Gavin's letter of resignation gave no reason for retirement beyond noting that Gavin, 50, will have completed 30 years of service March 31.

Women's Prison Chief's Status Eyed

COLUMBUS (AP) — Decision of Mrs. Marguerite Reilly, 68, as to whether she will remain or retire as superintendent of the Ohio Reformatory for Women at Marysville is expected by Jan. 31.

Maury Koblentz, head of the Division of Correction, said the decision will depend upon Mrs. Reilly's physical condition. She is now hospitalized and a 90-day leave is up Jan. 31.

Mrs. Reilly's daughter, Mrs. Jean Goche, a $5,760 a year executive at the reformatory, has applied for her mother's job even though there is no vacancy, Koblentz said. He added that this may be because Mrs. Goche knows her mother's plans.

CLOVIS ODVA EVANS

(In co-operation with J. Edgar Hoover, FBI Director, this newspaper is running a series of descriptive articles on criminals wanted by the FBI.)

CLOVIS ODVA EVANS is being sought by the FBI as a probation violator. After Evans had received a one-year sentence for violation of the Interstate Transportation of Stolen Property Statute in November, 1954, at Miami, Fla., his sentence was suspended. Placed on probation for a period of three years, Evans was instructed to report monthly. He last reported to his probation officer in September, 1955.

The wanted man was charged with violating the conditions of his probation in a probation violator's warrant issued by a U. S. District Court at Miami on Jan. 23, 1956.

Aliases used by Evans include O. G. Brannon, C. O. Evans, Clois Olva Evans, Cloris Olva Evans, Clovis Olva Evans, C. O. Evens, C. J. Jackson, "Bud" Evans, "Buddy" Evans and "Scott" Evans.

The fugitive's occupations include automobile salesman, laborer and taxi driver. He is said to be a neat dresser, a horse race fan and to wear dark glasses most of the time. He is also said to consider himself a "ladies man." He reportedly is a heavy drinker of intoxicants.

Thus, many a drunk driver's conviction in a rural area in 1953 would not have been reported to the state. But, in succeeding years, drunk driving convictions in the same rural areas would have been reported through the municipal courts which had taken jurisdiction.

Most city courts are tougher on drunk drivers than the minimum set by state law. The average punishment for 1,520 drunk drivers in Cleveland last year was 10 days in the workhouse; the Akron average was 10 days in jail plus a $100 fine and six months' driver license suspension; Cincinnati sent 526 drunk drivers to the workhouse in the first 11 months of 1957.

Army OKs Gavin Retirement Efforts To Keep Him Fail

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lt. Gen. James M. Gavin's request for retirement has been approved by Secretary of the Army Brucker after a final effort to keep the critic of defense policies in uniform.

"I have done my best to persuade him to stay," Brucker said in announcing that he had "reluctantly" approved Gavin's application to retire March 31 after completing 30 years of Army service.

Gavin, chief of Army research and development, earlier in the day had told the Senate Preparedness subcommittee his decision to retire was final. Brucker said he made one more try at getting Gavin to change his mind, even after the general had taken this position.

Spurning Pentagon offers of promotion to full general within 14 months and a choice of two assignments until then, Gavin told senators, "I can do better for the Army outside than in."

"He spoke of the Army's position as deteriorating rapidly.

He complained that Army strength and budget allocations have been whittled down over the past four years while Russian strength has been growing. He contends the Army needs thousands of planes, missiles and much more freedom in planning.

Talking with newsmen after his appearance before the Senate subcommittee, Gavin said "there is not one red penny" for the Army in President Eisenhower's emergency request for $1,260,000,000 in additional defense funds for this fiscal year ending June 30.

The general added that "I have been begging for money—money for the antimissile, money for a space program."

A number of Congress members have expressed concern over Gavin's plan to retire, saying officers of his caliber are needed badly now.

Gavin gave no clear idea of what he hoped to accomplish for the Army when he becomes a civilian, or how he plans to go about it. He told newsmen he had no particular plans for the future.

There were no outward evidences of any bad feeling beween Gavin and Brucker, his present boss.

Maj. Gen. Harry Storke, chief of Army information, said Gavin's letter of resignation gave no reason for retirement beyond noting that Gavin, 50, will have completed 30 years of service March 31.

PITTSBURGH (AP)—So that carniverous and herbivorous inhabitants of the local zoo will no longer be oderiferous, elephant and lion cages are being sprayed with sweet-smelling detergents.

Women's Prison Chief's Status Eyed

COLUMBUS (AP) — Decision of Mrs. Marguerite Reilly, 68, as to whether she will remain or retire as superintendent of the Ohio Reformatory for Women at Marysville is expected by Jan. 31.

Maury Koblentz, head of the Division of Correction, said the decision will depend upon Mrs. Reilly's physical condition. She is now hospitalized and a 90-day leave is up Jan. 31.

Mrs. Reilly's daughter, Mrs. Jean Goche, a $5,760 a year executive at the reformatory, has applied for her mother's job even though there is no vacancy, Koblentz said. He added that this may be because Mrs. Goche knows her mother's plans.

CLOVIS ODVA EVANS

(In co-operation with J. Edgar Hoover, FBI Director, this newspaper is running a series of descriptive articles on criminals wanted by the FBI.)

CLOVIS ODVA EVANS is being sought by the FBI as a probation violator. After Evans had received a one-year sentence for violation of the Interstate Transportation of Stolen Property Statute in November, 1954, at Miami, Fla., his sentence was suspended. Placed on probation for a period of three years, Evans was instructed to report monthly. He last reported to his probation officer in September, 1955.

The wanted man was charged with violating the conditions of his probation in a probation violator's warrant issued by a U. S. District Court at Miami on Jan. 23, 1956.

Aliases used by Evans include O. G. Brannon, C. O. Evans, Clois Olva Evans, Cloris Olva Evans, Clovis Olva Evans, C. O. Evens, C. J. Jackson, "Bud" Evans, "Buddy" Evans and "Scott" Evans.

The fugitive's occupations include automobile salesman, laborer and taxi driver. He is said to be a neat dresser, a horse race fan and to wear dark glasses most of the time. He is also said to consider himself a "ladies man." He reportedly is a heavy drinker of intoxicants.

DESCRIPTION: Age, 33; Born, Mount Hope, W. Va.; Height, 6 feet; Weight, 190 to 220; Build, medium; Hair, light brown; Eyes, brown; Complexion, fair. Has half-inch scar outside corner of left eye, pitted scar on right upper cheek, scar on tip of index finger of left hand and growth on first joint of right thumb.

INFORMATION concerning fugitive should be telephoned to the nearest FBI office.

Artist's conception of space men refueling their space rocket craft from a "mother" vessel hovering many hundreds of miles above the Earth.

Real Estate Lawyers Study Legal Angle of Space Land

By JOHN F. SEMBOWER
Central Press Association Correspondent

WASHINGTON — The legal eagles are getting ready to soar off into space and develop a whole new branch of law.

Already it has a name—meta-law — and it relates to such things as rights of discovery on the moon and planets, rights of nations to territory "straight up," and even how John Q. Citizen on Earth can perfect claims to real estate on heavenly bodies.

If you want to be in the swim of things among the rocket lawyers, you now toss around words and phrases such as "territoria nullia," "the right of innocent passage," "Celestia," and "the Karman Line."

The first problem the space lawyers have tackled in earnest is whether launchers of satellites are trespassers. Andrew G. Haley, counsel of the American Rocket society, thinks that only the agreements in connection with the International Geophysical Year kept Russia clear of that charge.

Ironically, he bases this on the Soviet's own protests two years ago against alleged launchings of high-level weather balloons from Germany and Turkey.

• • •

U. S. SECRETARY of State John Foster Dulles, no mean lawyer himself in private practice, said there was no recognized international law on the subject, but the Soviets quoted a French legal expert who in 1915 wrote that sovereignty "straight up" is unlimited.

Space lawyers now are veering to a view that outer space is like the "open seas" doctrine which created the famous three-mile limit along the coastlines of nations.

Dr. Welf Heinrich of Frankfurt, Germany, grandson of the late Kaiser Wilhelm II, and one of the first exclusively space law scholars, says that whether a satellite trespasses depend on whether it flies so low that it is in "the zone of sensitivity."

Oscar Schachter of the United Nations legal department suggests that the bottom layer of air—about 30 miles—over a nation is its absolute property; the next layer up to 150 miles, belongs to the country, but there is "a right of innocent passage" for nonwarlike gadgets through it. This is also known now as "the Karman Line," named after Theodore von Karman, rocket and missile expert who puts the limits of the atmosphere that high.

Staking out territorial claims in space, or "Celestia," has the experts in a dither. Most of them are opposed to the United States and Russia carving out any broad areas for their own at present, recalling that in 1494, just after Columbus launched that other great era of exploration into what then was "outer space," the Pope yielded to the request of Portugal and Spain to partition the New World between them.

Until more is known about outer space, a modern attempt might not be any more realistic. However, the law of discovery now is pretty clear. If Russia were to hit the moon with a rocket and plant a flag there, most lawyers believe it would be only a symbolic of "incipient claim."

If someone actually lands on the moon and takes possession, it will be a still better claim.

As the moon now stands, it is "territoria nullia"—belongs to nobody, says Haley, the rash of claims and deeds recently filed in various county recorders' offices throughout the United States by space enthusiasts notwithstanding. His advice: Don't, for heaven's sake, buy part of the moon from anybody yet, any more than you would buy the Brooklyn bridge!

Widow Seeks To Aid Mate's Charity Trust

CLEVELAND (AP)—Because of a tax saving, a socially prominent widow has used a legal option to claim one-third of her husband's nine million dollar estate. Most of what she gets will go to charities her husband was preparing to aid.

The unusual situation came to light when Mrs. G. Garretson Wade filed an election in Probate Court. Under Ohio law, if there are two or more children a widow may elect to disregard any will and claim one-third of her husband's estate.

Wade died last June, leaving $450,000 to nine chairities and the remainder in trust for his three children.

He had made many gifts to his wife during his lifetime. His will gave her only some camping property in Canada, and declared "in view of the property my wife now owns, I have made no further provision for her. . . ."

But a tax consulting firm estimated that federal estate taxes under the will would be approximately four million dollars. Under a widow's marital deduction they would be a little under three million dollars.

Harold T. Clark, attorney for the estate, issued a statement today saying that at the time of his death Wade was "in the process of creating a trust for the benefit of charity."

Mrs. Wade is taking steps "to carry out Mr. Wade's intentions by dedicating the greater part of her elective share to charitable purposes," said Clark, and "any amount not used for charitable purposes would be used for the benefit of other members of the family."

Ohio Retains 5th Rank As U.S. Coal Producer

WASHINGTON (AP)—The National Coal Assn. reports that Ohio's coal production of 36,045,000 tons in 1957 enabled it to hold its rank as the nation's No. 5 coalmining state.

The association gave the estimate in advance of the official Bureau of Mines report. Ohio still is outranked by West Virginia, Pennsylvania, Kentucky and Illinois. Warren and Belmont counties were listed by the association as the leading producers in Ohio.

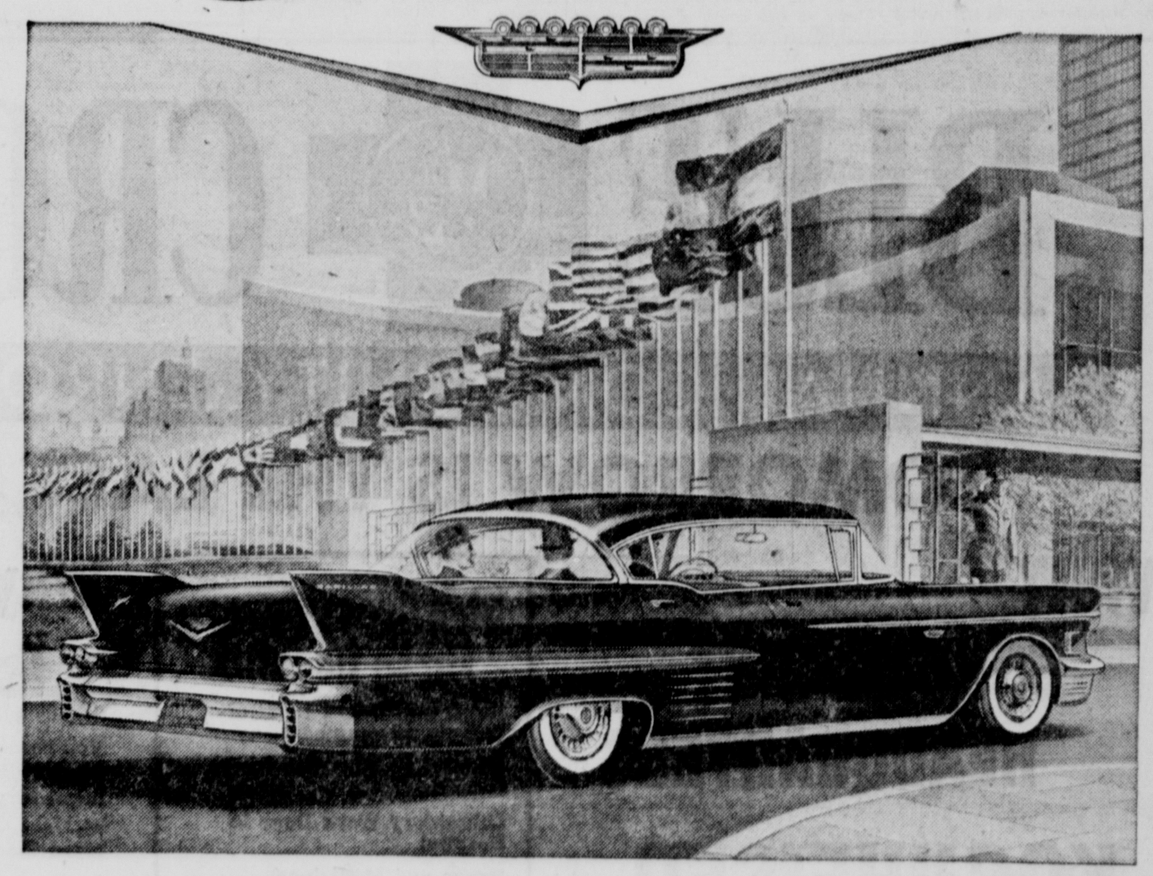
Cadillac



It Says "Greatness"... in Any Language!

Wherever highways exist and motor cars are known, the name "Cadillac" signifies but one thing—the unmistakable leader in its field.

For the motor car that has borne that distinguished name for the past fifty-five years has been so well designed and crafted that it has become a synonym for everything good and desirable in a product.

And never have these virtues been more evident than they are in the Cadillac car for 1958.

A single, sweeping glance at the new "car of cars", for example, reveals a grace and majesty and elegance never before attainable in modern automotive design.

A brief journey at the wheel provides irrefutable proof of the forward strides that have been made in Cadillac performance and in Fleetwood coachcrafting.

And a study of the facts about Cadillac economy and dependability indicates a soundness of investment beyond anything in Cadillac's brilliant past.

If you haven't as yet inspected and driven a 1958 Cadillac, you should do so very soon.

Whatever your favorite among Cadillac's wide selection of models, which includes the distinguished Eldorado Brougham, you will find it a rare masterpiece in everything a Cadillac can be.

ATOM POWER FOR INDUSTRY—The era of atomic power production in the United States dawns as the government's $55,000,000 nuclear plant at Shippingport, Pa., begins generating electricity. At top is the inside of the fuel-handling canal building. The reactor is at the base of the canal pit, seen just to the rear of the derrick-like structure which supports a uranium fuel element extraction tool. At bottom, technicians handle the complex console panel in the control room. The generator began turning out 12,000 kilowatts, which soon will be increased to 60,000 kilowatts.

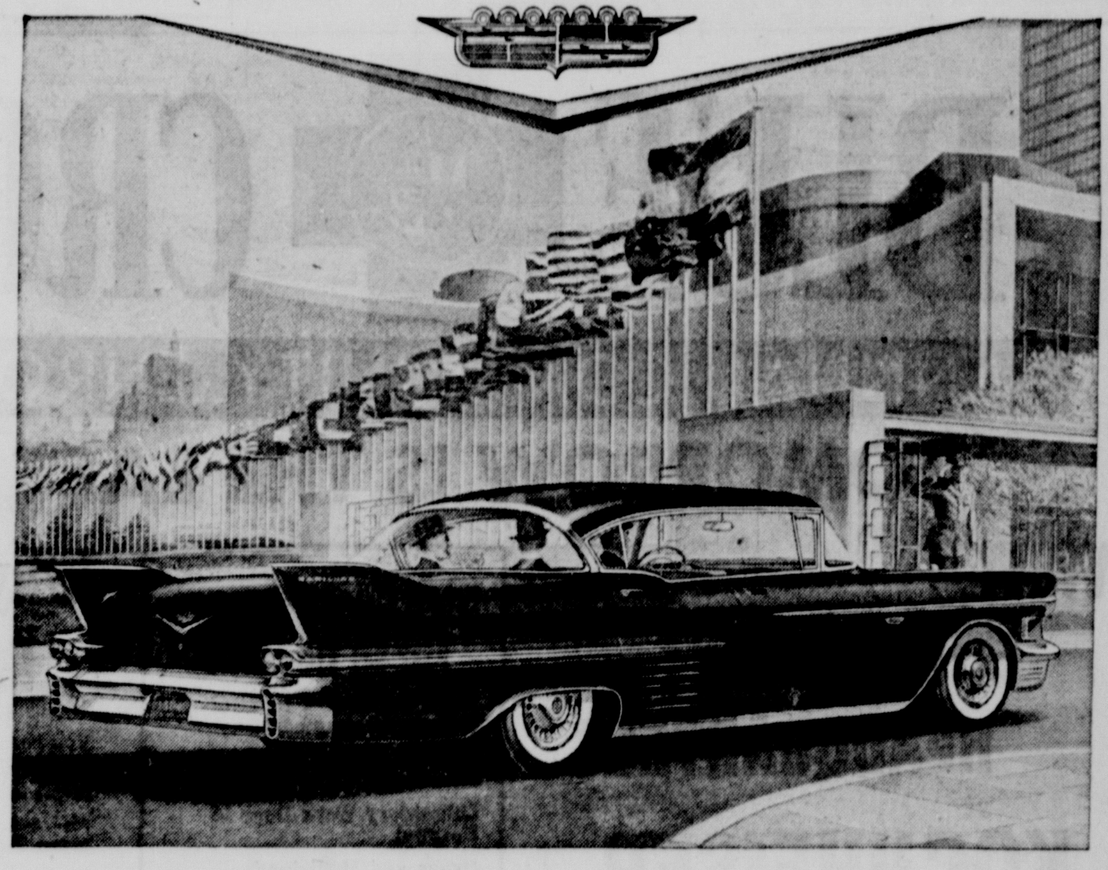
Cadillac



It Says "Greatness"...in Any Language!

Wherever highways exist and motor cars are known, the name "Cadillac" signifies but one thing—the unmistakable leader in its field.

For the motor car that has borne that distinguished name for the past fifty-five years has been so well designed and crafted that it has become a synonym for everything good and desirable in a product.

And never have these virtues been more evident than they are in the Cadillac car for 1958.

A single, sweeping glance at the new "car of cars", for example, reveals a grace and majesty and elegance never before attainable in modern automotive design.

A brief journey at the wheel provides irrefutable proof of the forward strides that have been made in Cadillac performance and in Fleetwood coachcrafting.

And a study of the facts about Cadillac economy and dependability indicates a soundness of investment beyond anything in Cadillac's brilliant past.

If you haven't as yet inspected and driven a 1958 Cadillac, you should do so very soon.

Whatever your favorite among Cadillac's wide selection of models, which includes the distinguished Eldorado Brougham, you will find it a rare masterpiece in everything a Cadillac can be.

House of Lords Open to Women

By FRANKLIN JOHNSON
Central Press Association
Correspondent

LONDON, England— The historic House of Lords has survived a behind-the-scenes struggle which threatened its abolition, and the august body is taking a new lease on life with the overwhelming approval by the peers of Parliament legislation permitting women for the first time to sit and vote as members.

The role of the House of Lords in English government today is a mystery to most non-Britishers, but it has direct parallels in the United States government and indeed served as the prototype for the Senate.

Alexander Hamilton is his famous Federalist papers which are credited with shaping to a large extent the setup of the fledgling United States praised the House of Lords as a council of the crown and "a most noble institution."

The House of Lords hit the skids as a legislative force in 1911, when Prime Minister Asquith successfully threatened to use a "packing plan."

Angered by the lords' veto of the budget of 1909 which dealt with the taxation of land, Asquith took the issue to the people and won. Then he moved to eliminate forever the veto power of the House of Lords, but the catch was that the lords themselves had to agree to it.

• • •

SINCE PEERAGES were created then as now by the crown upon recommendation of the prime minister, Asquith threatened to initiate new appointments until it would go along. The menace of such an inflation of peerages was enough to force the lords to eliminate themselves as a potent legislative force.

Today there are 878 members, including in order of rank the dukes, marquises, earls, barons, and "life peers" whose titles are not hereditary. Also there are the York and law members appointed to sit with the lords, who are lawyers and comprise a sort af parallel to the United States Supreme Court as the court of last resort for England, Scotland and Northern Ireland.

This legal function is so important that undoubtedly it would have been carried on somehow if the House of Lords had been abolished. Also the lords retain a fragment of their old veto power over all but money bills by being able to delay passage of House of Common acts for a year.

Although women now are to sit in the House, this does not mean that the present 24 peeresses—a duchess, six countesses, two viccountesses, and 15 baronesses — automatically will become members.

The new women members will be "life peers" appointed by Queen Elizabeth II upon the recommendation of Prime Minister Macmillan, and it is likely that one wil be U. S.-born Nancy, Viscountess Astor. Lady Astor, 78, was born in Virginia and derived her title from marriage to the late Viscount Astor.

Verdi's opera, "Otello," was first performed in Milan in 1887. It is an adaptation of Shakespeare's tragedy.

Second Ohio GI Handed Stiff Penalty

KUNSAN, Korea (AP) — Airman Edward L. Young of Phio, Ohio, was sentenced today to three months at hard labor and a fine of $90 for the fatal shooting of a Korean girl at a bomb dump he was guarding.

The 20-year-old airman was convicted of assault with a dangerous weapon. A more serious charge of involuntary manslaughter was dropped by the court-martial.

Another airman on guard with Young at the time, Carroll D. Taylor of Cincinnati, Ohio, was convicted Dec. 11 of assault with a dangerous weapon and sentenced to nine months in prison.

Young and Taylor were guarding the bomb dump last September when three Korean girls entered and began cutting grass for fuel. Two of the girls said Young indicated they could enter the dump, but Young denied it.

He said the girls started running from him and he fired two shots into a grassy area "to scare them into stopping." Then, Young said, he aimed a shot at the middle of a girl's back but expected to hit her in the legs because his rifle sights had not been adjusted.

He did not intend harm to them, Young testified. Kim Yong Yi, 17, died two months after the shooting. Another girl also was wounded, but recovered.

The shooting of the girls was one of several such incidents involving American troops which caused heated resentment among South Koreans.

4. Foreign trade — Eisenhower urged Congress to extend the reciprocal trade act for five years. He said world trade "strengthens our friends and increases their desire to be friends."

5. Scientific cooperation with allies — Eisenhower called for approval of legislation to permit the sharing of atomic secrets with friendly nations.

"We cannot afford to cut oursevles off from the brilliant talents and minds of scientists in friendly countries," he said.

6. Education and research—noting he had outlined previously a broad program calling for spending about a billion dollars annually for four years to strengthen educational and research facilities, Eisenhower said:

"With this kind of all-inclusive campaign, I have no doubt that we can create the intellectual capital we need for the years ahead, invest it in the right places — and do all this, not as regimented pawns, but as free men and women!"

7. Spending and saving — the federal budget for the year starting July 1 will include about four billion dollars more than the budget for the year which began July 1, 1957 for defense purposes. Eisenhower said the extra money will go for such things as missiles, nuclear ships, atomic energy, and research and development.

Eisenhower said as to budget prospects:

"While we now believe that expected revenues and expenditures will roughly balance, our real purpose will be to achieve adequate security, but always with the utmost regard for efficiency and careful management ....

"Such related matters as the national debt ceiling and tax revenues will be dealt with in later messages."

8. Works of peace — Eisenhower said:

"My last call for action is not primarily addressed to the Congress and people of the United States. Rather, it is a message from the people of the United States to all other peoples, especially those of the Soviet Union.

"This is the spirit of what we would like to say:

" 'In the last analysis, there is only one solution to the grim problems that lie ahead. The world must stop the present plunge toward more and more destructive weapons of war, and turn the corner that will start our steps firmly on the path toward lasting peace.

" 'Our greatest hope for success lies in a universal fact: The people of the world, as people, have always wanted peace and want peace now.

" 'The problem, then, is to find a way of translating this universal desire into action.

" 'This will require more than words of peace. It requires works of peace.' "

Airman To Live For Week in Tiny Space Test Coffer

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—In a few weeks, A1c Donald G. Farrell will be living in a test chamber simulating conditions space travelers would experience on a round trip flight to the moon.

The experiment by the School of Aviation Medicine at Randolph Air Force Base will duplicate some conditions met by the Russian dog Laika aboard Sputnik II.

Air Force spokesmen said Farrell would stay in the space flight coffer for a week sometime next month. Like Laika, he will be wired so scientists can record his reactions. Farrell is a 28-year-old accounting clerk from the Bronx, N. Y.

Hurricane, Tigers Eye SCOL Top Spot

The Hurricane of Wilmington will blow into Circleville Friday night for a crucial South Central Ohio League test with Coach Dick Boyd's Tigers.

Both teams are deadlocked for second place in the SCOL with 2-1 records. Washington C. H. is leading the pack with three wins and one defeat.

If the Tigers can grab a victory here they would move into a tie with WCH for first place. The Blue Lions are not scheduled for league play Friday night.

The Red and Black cagers, currently boasting one of their best seasons in several years, are aware they will have their hands full with the dangerous Hurricane.

* * *

THE Tigers will be seeking their fifth win in a row and seventh in nine starts. One of their losses was at Washington C. H. and the other to Chillicothe here.

The scoring punch provided by Bill Johnson, the SCOL's top scorer, and big Jon Parcher is expected to play a big part in the Tigers' bid for a first place deadlock.

Johnson is carrying a 23-point per game average in league play and Parcher owns a 15-point plus average. Guard Mike Hosler holds an 11-point plus mark in the three loop games played.

Much of the three top scorers' points have been made possible by the passing and floor work of John Wright, Dick Smith and Don Rowland. Another Tiger who may win a starting berth Friday night is Asa Elsea, a scrappy guard who has been improving steadily each week.

If they are to win the Tigers must stop Wilmington's Steve Rainer, a steady 6-2 performer. The accurate jump shooter is second in the league with a 19.7 average. He excels in hitting from the side, can drive and plays a rugged game under the bankboards.

Halftime entertainment will be provided by two local elementary teams. Several 5th and 6th graders have been selected to play a game during the varsity and reserve intermissions.

Coach Boyd and assistant Jack Weikert have been working with the city's 5th and 6th graders who are interested in basketball. About 50 boys are engaged in the program. All the young cagers have been invited to the game as special guests of the Tigers.

Mountaineers Tighten Grip On Top Rating

West Virginia Outfit Chalks 11th Straight Win; Villanova Loses

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

More and more, it looks as if those hustling Mountaineers of West Virginia University have what could make them THE TEAM of the 1957-58 college basketball season.

The Mounties, who assumed the No. 1 rating in the AP poll after snapping North Carolina's 37-game winning streak three weeks ago, showed a gritty performance Wednesday night making it 11 straight, 76-75 over a fired-up Villanova outfit that held a 16-point lead with about 10 minutes to play.

The Mounties, fumbling and inept until then, went on a spectacular drive behind their spectacular 6-3 soph, Jerry West, a 37-point scorer for the night. With about 10 seconds left, West's field goal pulled West Virginia to within one point at 75-74 and, with but two seconds left Lloyd Sharrar's driving layup bagged it.

West Virginia's victory came in the opener of a doubleheader at the Philadelphia Palestra. Twice-beaten Temple, Holiday Festival tournament champ and 12th-ranked nationally, won its eighth in a row 64-45 over Penn State in the second game.

Eleventh - ranked Maryland, a coasting 74-59 winner over Duke in an Atlantic Coast Conference game, was the only other rated team in action in the night's slim program.

Dayton, now 10-2 after a slow start, whipped Detroit 72-59, Louisville broke a three-game losing streak by cuffing St. Louis 67-55, Wichita took an 80-54 Missouri Conference test from North Texas State, and Dom Flora set a school career record of 2,006 points with 25 during Washington and Lee's 73-54 victory over Randolph-Macon.

Duquesne stopped Carnegie Tech 68-51 and Pitt defeated Westminister of Pennsylvania, 72-57 in a doubleheader at Pittsburgh.

Western Kentucky defeated Oklahoma City 70-56. St. Francis of Pennsylvania won 72-50 over St. Bonaventure. George Washington edged Georgetown (DC) 80-78. Bowling Green was a 104-74 winner over Western Michigan.

Army and Navy found the winning combination, the Cadets over Rutgers 74-72 and the Middies over Gettysburg 63-45, and unbeaten Boston Univ. won its sixth, 85-63 over Northeastern. Fordham, with Jim Cunningham scoring 26, beat Syracuse for the first time in three years, 81-79.

Fred Haney Honored As Top NL Manager

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP)—The National League manager of the year of the team of the year—Fred Haney of the world champion Milwaukee Braves — today could treasure the memory of a testimonial banquet given him by 1,000 admirers.

Warren Giles, president of the National League, headed a distinguished group of honored guests here Wednesday night.

Chicago Cardinals Select New Coach

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago Cardinals plan to announce their new head football coach Friday, the 19th in the club's history.

Ray Richards resigned Saturday after the Cards finished last in the Eastern Division of the National Football League. Richards' tenure was three years.

Managing Director Walter Wolfner said the new coach already has been chosen from a list of about 20 applicants.

"We have decided on the man we want," he said. "But he must obtain his release from a present contract before we can announce who it is."

Oregon, Ohio Chiefs Both Paying Off

SALEM, Ore. (AP)—Gov. Robert D. Holmes of Oregon and Gov. C. William O'Neill of Ohio are paying off on a bet, but only Gov. Holmes lost.

The two governors made the bet on the Ohio State - Oregon Rose Bowl football game Jan. 1. Oregon was defeated 10-7, and Holmes paid his bet Wednesday by sending O'Neill a Douglas fir tree.

But the Ohio governor, because of underdog Oregon's strong showing in the game, decided to pay off, too. He is sending Holmes a Buckeye tree.

Ohio College Cagers Start Scoring in High Figures

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ohio college basketball scores, comparatively low throughout the season, zoomed to great heights Wednesday with two teams breaking the century mark and another scoring in the 90s.

Bowling Green led the scoring parade in its sweep of Western Michigan in a Mid-American Conference game on the Falcons' home court, 104-74.

Jimmy Darrow led the Falcons and was also the highest scorer in the action Wednesday with 35 points. The 5 foot 11 sophomore hit 20 points in seven minutes during the Bee Gees' big spurt in the second half. Darrow has continually led Bowling Green scoring this season.

Record-wise, it is the Falcons' eighth victory in nine games and it gives them a 2-1 mark in the conference. Western Michigan is now 3-7 for the season and 0-4 in the Mid-Am.

Huntington College of Indiana was the other team to break the "100 point barrier" but it took them two overtimes to do it.

The Foresters (2-9) edged Bluffton (2-4), 101-96.

Bluffton trailed most of the time in the lengthy contest, but managed to tie the ball game at appropriate times, 85-85 at the end of the regulation time and 90-90 at the end of the first extra five minutes.

Bluffton also came from behind in the deciding overtime, 96-96, but there the attack stalled and Huntington went on to win.

Youngstown was also hot Wednesday. The Penguins turned in an 82-74 victory over Baldwin-Wallace.

Mickey Yugovich scored 24 points for the victors, who took over the lead in the early minutes of play and set the pace for the rest of the game.

Youngstown has a 9-2 record and B-W is 5-8.

Dayton had little trouble in posting its 10th win in 12 starts. The Flyers downed Detroit 72-59 in Dayton.

Dayton took over the lead after the first 4½ minutes of play and the Flyers were never headed.

Jack McCarthy topped scoring for the Flyers with 24 points. He also had 16 rebounds.

The defeat gave Detroit a 6-4 mark.

Two league leaders put their position on the line and both were victorious.

Wittenberg (7-2) won its fourth Ohio Conference game without a loss, 73-40, against Ohio Wesleyan in Springfield. The Wesleyan Bishops are now 2-6 for the season and 2-3 in the conference.

John Carroll kept its lead in the Presidents' Conference with an 86-74 victory over Case Tech in Cleveland. The Blue Streaks were behind several times in the first half and led by a slim 40-38 margin at mid-point. Carroll is 2-0 and Case 0-2 in the conference.

In an independent contest, Steubenville rang up its 13th win in 14 games by defeating St. Vincent of Pennsylvania, 79-67. It was the Barons' 48th straight home court victory.

Lakers Play 'Cousin' to Celtic Quint

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

If there is one team in the National Basketball Assn. that is a "cousin" of the Boston Celtics, it is the Minneapolis Lakers buried deep in the cellar of the Western Division.

While all the teams have taken turns at beating the once-powerful Lakers, only the Celtics can boast of a perfect record against the team coached by George Mikan.

When the Eastern Division leaders thumped the Lakers 107-87 Wednesday night it marked the seventh time this season that the Celtics have beaten Minneapolis.

The Boston victory, coupled with Detroit's 109-107 decision over Syracuse, moved the Celtics 6½ games in front of the Nats in the Eastern Division. New York's Knickerbockers broke a four-game losing streak and got back to the .500 mark by defeating Cincinnati 123-105.

Tom Heinsohn was high for Boston with 16, but the Lakers' Vern Mikkelsen led game scorers with 23.

The Nats' Dolph Schayes took individual scoring honors with 31 points. Henry Gallatin and George Yardley each had 26 for the Pistons in the Detroit-Syracuse game.

The Knicks took the lead midway of the second quarter and never were headed in their game with the Royals as Ray Felix dropped in 26 points and shared game scoring honors with Cincinnati's Maurice Stokes.

Soy Sievers of the Washington Senators led American League batters in total bases in 1957 with 331. Seventy of his 172 hits were for extra bases.

Darby Leads County Teams In Scoring

Darby leads the Pickaway County basketball league in scoring with a 72.4 points per game average. The Trojans also are on the top rung in league play with five straight victories.

New Holland holds the defensive lead, holding its opponents to 37.7 points per game. The Bulldogs specialize in defensive play and concentrate on containing the opposition, leaving the scoring to the county's fourth leading scorer, John Lininger.

As of last weekend New Holland had the top percentage with .888 percent on the basis of eight wins and one defeat, that being a league loss to Scioto.

Following Darby, five points behind offensively, is Ashville with a 67.3. Scioto trails the Broncos with a 66.8 averag in 10 games.

Defensively, Darby ranks second holding its opponents to a 46.2 average and Pickaway is in third place with a 55.2 average.

Saltcreek has played more games to date than any other school with 12. Williamsport has played 11 and Scioto 10.

280 Golfers Entered In Bing Crosby Test

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Bing Crosby's friendly little golf tournament opens its 72-hole stand today with a $50,000 jackpot.

Three rugged courses on the picturesque Monterey Peninsula are played. The huge field of 280 is split into two groups—one plays at Monterey Peninsula Country Club and the other at Cypress Point today. Friday they switch. The final two rounds are over Pebble Beach.

NCAA Parley Ends with Full Calmness

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The 52nd annual NCAA convention, as calm as this City of Brotherly Love, was all over today. There wasn't even any shouting.

The biggest noise of the four-day session came Wednesday when the college football coaches applauded the humor and football knowledge of Vice President Nixon. The former third-string end at Whittier College (Calif.) addressed the College Football Coaches Assn. at its annual luncheon. The affair honored Woody Hayes of Ohio State as Coach of the Year.

On the convention floor, there was only a slight stir of activity. Practically all concerned one topic—a controversial proposal from the NCAA Council to exempt the Army, Navy and Air Force academies from some recruiting restrictions.

The convention voted temporary acceptance of the proposal, but not before several delegates objected strongly. Eastern colleges indicated they may pass a stronger restrictive rule.

The proposed rule recognizes unique problems confronting the service academies in regard to tutoring prospective athletes so that they can meet stiff entrance requirements. It will be voted on in 1959.

Cotton Bowl Bet Paid Off: 1 Bale of Hay

DALLAS (AP) — Two Texas fans bet a friend that Rice would beat Navy in the Cotton Bowl game. Rice lost, 20-7, so they paid off.

Homer Penwell of Dallas and Mrs. Gertrude Kent, Tyler, Tex., dispatched a bale of hay air freight to Ray Higgins, a Sun Oil Co. pilot in Philadelphia. The hay was the stake.

Scioto's Knapp No. 1 Pointmaker

Scioto's sensational Roger Knapp today led Pickaway County league pointmakers for the sixth consecutive week with a 25.1 average. That's the closest Knapp has been to dropping under the 25-point mark. Knapp is the No. 1 reason why Scioto has a 7-3 season record and is in fourth place in league play.

Ronny Gutheil, the Darby wonderboy, remains in second place with a 23.6 average, dropping 0.4 tenths of the point during the week. Gutheil with 31 points had a hot night against hapless Monroe last Friday night but against Hamilton he registered only 12.

Ned Musselman, the Trojan workhorse and playmaker, moved into contention with teammate Gutheil as he boosted his average 1.2 points for a 20.5 average and third position.

John Lininger, the New Holland court general, dropped to fourth position with a 19.7 average. Lininger's Dutch quintet concentrates on defense but "Big John" still manages to garner 19 or more points per contest.

* * *

GARY VALENTINE held fifth place with an 18.7 average, dropping half a point. Valentine was held to 13 points in Saltcreek's slow 39 to 36 win over Atlanta.

Dave Myers, Williamsport, dropped 0.4 of a point but retained sixth position.

Chuch Galloway, the Jackson contender for the scoring crown, increased his average 1.4 of a point as he was instrumental in Jackson's upset victory over Walnut. Galloway tallied 27 points in this first victory for Jackson—15 of them free throws. Chuck's average is 17.5.

Ashville's sophomore center, Bobby Hoover, dropped to eighth place after holding down seventh for the past two weeks. Though he didn't help his average Hoover was of terrific assistance in Ashville's three holiday victories, one of which was over undefeated Buchtel-York in the Nelsonville Holiday Tournament. Hoover maintains a 17.1 average.

Saltcreek was given a needed shot in the arm last week as Fred Murray rejoined the squad after resigning the week before. Murray has a 15.5 average, dropping 0.4 of a point. He provides the outside scoring threat in the Warrior attack.

Scioto's Gary Clark rounds out the top ten with a 13.7 average. Clark enables Coach Joe Corbett's Buffalo quintet to break Knapp loose. When dazzling Roger is teamed, Clark is capable of carrying the scoring load.

Newcomers to the top 20 are Walnut's Danny Slone, Max Reeser, Williamsport, and Steve Fullen, Monroe, who were in this select group earlier in the season. Jim Rathburn, Ashville, moves into the scoring poll with a 12.4 average.

* * *

WILLIAMSPORT, Ashville and Walnut each placed three men in the top 20 and Darby has two men in the top five.

Darby undefeated leader in league play followed by New Holland and Ashville with 4 and 1 records. Scioto which scooted into fourth place, and Williamsport, in fifth, are the only teams with winning standings.

Hart Impressive In Ring Victory

CHICAGO (AP)—Sugar Hart, who won't reach manhood until his 21st birthday next month, already is being tabbed as a top welterweight title prospect.

He flashed powerful combinations and fine poise Wednesday night against Larry Baker.

Hart handily won the televised 10 rounder, receiving votes under the five-point maximum system of 49-41 by referee Frank Sikora, 49-40 from Judge Howard Walsh and 49-42 from judge Harold Marovitz.

Senior Gridders Set for Battle

Mobile To Host Bowl Tilt on Saturday

MOBILE, Ala. (AP)—Potent scoring machines were announced today for Saturday's Senior Bowl game, but the football philosophy of the opposing pro coaches was evidenced more by the defensive lineups.

South Coach Paul Brown, strong adherent of tight defenses, and Joe Kuharich, whose North team lost 21-7 last year because it couldn't stop fullback Don Bosseler's drives, placed some of their more publicized players on the defensive units.

The offensive platoons leave little to be desired, however.

Kuharich's offensive backfield includes Michigan State teammates Jim Ninowski, quarterback, and Walt Kowalczyk, fullback. The halfbacks are Mike Sommer, George Washington, and Ray Nitschke, Illinois. Bobby Cox, Minnesota, will alternate with Ninowski.

Brown, Cleveland Browns coach, will counter with quarterback George Walker, Arkansas; halfbacks Phil King, Vanderbilt, and Dick Christy, All America from North Carolina State; and fullback Jimmy Taylor, Louisiana State.

The South's defensive unit will include Billy Atkins, record scorer for Auburn's national titlists; Ray Brown, star of Mississippi's Sugar Bowl rout of "exas; and All America linemen Bill Krisher, Oklahoma, and Charles Krueger, Texas A&M.

Atkins will team with Oklahoma ace Clendon Thomas at sideback while Brown and Bill Anderson, Tennessee, will play double safety.

Kuharich, Washington Redskin coach, will also use a double safety, consisting of Jim Van Pelt, Michigan, and Jim Shanley, Oregon. His sidebacks will be Les Walters, Penn State end, and Bob Stransky, Colorado.

Defenders up front for the North will include All America Alex Karras, Iowa, and Jim McCusker, Pittsburgh.

The South has a 5-3 edge in the series, in which the seniors turn pro.

Hurricane, Tigers Eye SCOL Top Spot

The Hurricane of Wilmington will blow into Circleville Friday night for a crucial South Central Ohio League test with Coach Dick Boyd's Tigers.

Both teams are deadlocked for second place in the SCOL with 2-1 records. Washington C. H. is leading the pack with three wins and one defeat.

If the Tigers can grab a victory here they would move into a tie with WCH for first place. The Blue Lions are not scheduled for league play Friday night.

The Red and Black cagers, currently boasting one of their best seasons in several years, are aware they will have their hands full with the dangerous Hurricane.

* * *

THE Tigers will be seeking their fifth win in a row and seventh in nine starts. One of their losses was at Washington C. H. and the other to Chillicothe here.

The scoring punch provided by Bill Johnson, the SCOL's top scorer, and big Jon Parcher is expected to play a big part in the Tigers' bid for a first place deadlock.

Johnson is carrying a 23-point per game average in league play and Parcher owns a 15-point plus average. Guard Mike Hosler holds an 11-point plus mark in the three loop games played.

Much of the three top scorers' points have been made possible by the passing and floor work of John Wright, Dick Smith and Don Rowland. Another Tiger who may win a starting berth Friday night is Asa Elsea, a scrappy guard who has been improving steadily each week.

If they are to win the Tigers must stop Wilmington's Steve Rainer, a steady 6-2 performer. The accurate jump shooter is second in the league with a 19.7 average. He excels in hitting from the side, can drive and plays a rugged game under the bankboards.

Halftime entertainment will be provided by two local elementary teams. Several 5th and 6th graders have been selected to play a game during the varsity and reserve intermissions.

Coach Boyd and assistant Jack Weikert have been working with the city's 5th and 6th graders who are interested in basketball. About 50 boys are engaged in the program. All the young cagers have been invited to the game as special guests of the Tigers.

Mountaineers Tighten Grip On Top Rating

West Virginia Outfit Chalks 11th Straight Win; Villanova Loses

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

More and more, it looks as if those hustling Mountaineers of West Virginia University have what could make them THE TEAM of the 1957-58 college basketball season.

The Mounties, who assumed the No. 1 rating in the AP poll after snapping North Carolina's 37-game winning streak three weeks ago, showed a gritty performance Wednesday night making it 11 straight, 76-75 over a fired-up Villanova outfit that held a 16-point lead with about 10 minutes to play.

The Mounties, fumbling and inept until then, went on a spectacular drive behind their spectacular 6-3 soph, Jerry West, a 37-point scorer for the night. With about 10 seconds left, West's field goal pulled West Virginia to within one point at 75-74 and, with but two seconds left Lloyd Sharrar's driving layup bagged it.

West Virginia's victory came in the opener of a doubleheader at the Philadelphia Palestra. Twice-beaten Temple, Holiday Festival tournament champ and 12th-ranked nationally, won its eighth in a row 64-45 over Penn State in the second game.

Eleventh - ranked Maryland, a coasting 74-59 winner over Duke in an Atlantic Coast Conference game, was the only other rated team in action in the night's slim program.

Dayton, now 10-2 after a slow start, whipped Detroit 72-59, Louisville broke a three-game losing streak by cuffing St. Louis 67-55, Wichita took an 80-54 Missouri Conference test from North Texas State, and Dom Flora set a school career record of 2,006 points with 25 during Washington and Lee's 73-54 victory over Randolph-Macon.

Duquesne stopped Carnegie Tech 68-51 and Pitt defeated Westminister of Pennsylvania, 72-57 in a doubleheader at Pittsburgh.

Western Kentucky defeated Oklahoma City 70-56. St. Francis of Pennsylvania won 72-50 over St. Bonaventure. George Washington edged Georgetown (DC) 80-78. Bowling Green was a 104-74 winner over Western Michigan.

Army and Navy found the winning combination, the Cadets over Rutgers 74-72 and the Middies over Gettysburg 63-45, and unbeaten Boston Univ. won its sixth, 85-63 over Northeastern. Fordham, with Jim Cunningham scoring 26, beat Syracuse for the first time in three years, 81-79.

Darby Leads County Teams In Scoring

Darby leads the Pickaway County basketball league in scoring with a 72.4 points per game average. The Trojans also are on the top rung in league play with five straight victories.

New Holland holds the defensive lead, holding its opponents to 37.7 points per game. The Bulldogs specialize in defensive play and concentrate on containing the opposition, leaving the scoring to the county's fourth leading scorer, John Lininger.

As of last weekend New Holland had the top percentage with .888 percent on the basis of eight wins and one defeat, that being a league loss to Scioto.

Following Darby, five points behind offensively, is Ashville with a 67.3. Scioto trails the Broncos with a 66.8 averag in 10 games.

Defensively, Darby ranks second holding its opponents to a 46.2 average and Pickaway is in third place with a 55.2 average.

Saltcreek has played more games to date than any other school with 12, Williamsport has played 11 and Scioto 10.

NCAA Parley Ends with Full Calmness

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The 52nd annual NCAA convention, as calm as this City of Brotherly Love, was all over today. There wasn't even any shouting.

The biggest noise of the four-day session came Wednesday when the college football coaches applauded the humor and football knowledge of Vice President Nixon. The former third-string end at Whittier College (Calif.) addressed the College Football Coaches Assn. at its annual luncheon. The affair honored Woody Hayes of Ohio State as Coach of the Year.

On the convention floor, there was only a slight stir of activity. Practically all concerned one topic—a controversial proposal from the NCAA Council to exempt the Army, Navy and Air Force academies from some recruiting restrictions.

The convention voted temporary acceptance of the proposal, but not before several delegates objected strongly. Eastern colleges indicated they may pass a stronger restrictive rule.

The proposed rule recognizes unique problems confronting the service academies in regard to tutoring prospective athletes so that they can meet stiff entrance requirements. It will be voted on in 1959.

Cotton Bowl Bet Paid Off: 1 Bale of Hay

DALLAS (AP) — Two Texas fans bet a friend that Rice would beat Navy in the Cotton Bowl game. Rice lost, 20-7, so they paid off.

Homer Penwell of Dallas and Mrs. Gertrude Kent, Tyler, Tex., dispatched a bale of hay air freight to Ray Higgins, a Sun Oil Co. pilot in Philadelphia. The hay was the stake.

Scioto's Knapp No. 1 Pointmaker

Scioto's sensational Roger Knapp today led Pickaway County league pointmakers for the sixth consecutive week with a 25.1 average. That's the closest Knapp has been to dropping under the 25-point mark. Knapp is the No. 1 reason why Scioto has a 7-3 season record and is in fourth place in league play.

Ronny Gutheil, the Darby wonderboy, remains in second place with a 23.6 average, dropping 0.4 tenths of the point during the week. Gutheil with 31 points had a hot night against hapless Monroe last Friday night but against Hamilton he registered only 12.

Ned Musselman, the Trojan workhorse and playmaker, moved into contention with teammate Gutheil as he boosted his average 1.2 points for a 20.5 average and third position.

John Lininger, the New Holland court general, dropped to fourth position with a 19.7 average. Lininger's Dutch quintet concentrates on defense but "Big John" still manages to garner 19 or more points per contest.

* * *

GARY VALENTINE held fifth place with an 18.7 average, dropping half a point. Valentine was held to 13 points in Saltcreek's slow 39 to 36 win over Atlanta.

Dave Myers, Williamsport, dropped 0.4 of a point but retained sixth position.

Chuch Galloway, the Jackson contender for the scoring crown, increased his average 1.4 of a point as he was instrumental in Jackson's upset victory over Walnut. Galloway tallied 27 points in this first victory for Jackson—15 of them free throws. Chuck's average is 17.5.

Ashville's sophomore center, Bobby Hoover, dropped to eighth place after holding down seventh for the past two weeks. Though he didn't help his average Hoover was of terrific assistance in Ashville's three holiday victories, one of which was over undefeated Buchtel-York in the Nelsonville Holiday Tournament. Hoover maintains a 17.1 average.

Saltcreek was given a needed shot in the arm last week as Fred Murray rejoined the squad after resigning the week before. Murray has a 15.5 average, dropping 0.4 of a point. He provides the outside scoring threat in the Warrior attack.

Scioto's Gary Clark rounds out the top ten with a 13.7 average. Clark enables Coach Joe Corbett's Buffalo quintet to break Knapp loose. When dazzling Roger is teamed, Clark is capable of carrying the scoring load.

Newcomers to the top 20 are Walnut's Danny Slone, Max Reeser, Williamsport, and Steve Fullen, Monroe, who were in this select group earlier in the season. Jim Rathburn, Ashville, moves into the scoring poll with a 12.4 average.

* * *

WILLIAMSPORT, Ashville and Walnut each placed three men in the top 20 and Darby has two men in the top five.

Darby undefeated leader in league play followed by New Holland and Ashville with 4 and 1 records. Scioto which scooted into fourth place, and Williamsport, in fifth, are the only teams with winning standings.

Hart Impressive In Ring Victory

CHICAGO (AP)—Sugar Hart, who won't reach manhood until his 21st birthday next month, already is being tabbed as a top welterweight title prospect.

He flashed powerful combinations and fine poise Wednesday night against Larry Baker.

Hart handily won the televised 10 rounder, receiving votes under the five-point maximum system of 49-41 by referee Frank Sikora, 49-40 from Judge Howard Walsh and 49-42 from judge Harold Marovitz.

Senior Gridders Set for Battle

Mobile To Host Bowl Tilt on Saturday

MOBILE, Ala. (AP)—Potent scoring machines were announced today for Saturday's Senior Bowl game, but the football philosophy of the opposing pro coaches was evidenced more by the defensive lineups.

South Coach Paul Brown, strong adherent of tight defenses, and Joe Kuharich, whose North team lost 21-7 last year because it couldn't stop fullback Don Bosseler's drives, placed some of their more publicized players on the defensive units.

The offensive platoons leave little to be desired, however.

Kuharich's offensive backfield includes Michigan State teammates Jim Ninowski, quarterback, and Walt Kowalczyk, fullback. The halfbacks are Mike Sommer, George Washington, and Ray Nitschke, Illinois. Bobby Cox, Minnesota, will alternate with Ninowski.

Brown, Cleveland Browns coach, will counter with quarterback George Walker, Arkansas; halfbacks Phil King, Vanderbilt, and Dick Christy, All America from North Carolina State; and fullback Jimmy Taylor, Louisiana State.

The South's defensive unit will include Billy Atkins, record scorer for Auburn's national titlists; Ray Brown, star of Mississippi's Sugar Bowl rout of Texas; and All America linemen Bill Krisher, Oklahoma, and Charles Krueger, Texas A&M.

Atkins will team with Oklahoma ace Clendon Thomas at sideback while Brown and Bill Anderson, Tennessee, will play double safety.

Kuharich, Washington Redskin coach, will also use a double safety, consisting of Jim Van Pelt, Michigan, and Jim Shanley, Oregon. His sidebacks will be Les Walters, Penn State end, and Bob Stransky, Colorado.

Defenders up front for the North will include All America Alex Karras, Iowa, and Jim McCusker, Pittsburgh.

The South has a 5-3 edge in the series, in which the seniors turn pro.

SORRY!

We are not having a gigantic, super-colossal sale with fantastic bargains. Nor do we claim to sell cars with no down payments or other such foolish come-ons.
Our every day methods are based on low pressure selling and good values.

We cannot honestly claim to have the most, the cheapest, or even the best used cars in the U.S. However, we do have a large selection of good reconditioned used cars, from 1949 models to 1957's, ranging in price from $95 to $2495. We are in the midst of Inventory Time and our prices are lower than usual.

Please give us the opportunity of helping you if you are considering the purchase of a used car or are contemplating selling your present car.

We have written guarantees, but we think our word is far more important: It is upon one's word that future happy relationships are dependent.

Beautiful Country Home

Of Early American architecture, this residence is located on 5 acres of land, more or less, a scenic setting impossible to duplicate. The home, in perfect condition in every respect, consists of the following: 4 bedrooms, abundant in area, 3½ baths, 2 attractive foyers, side and front, lovely den with built-in bar and woodburning fireplace, large living room with (W.B.F.), family dining room with (W.B.F.), completely modern kitchen and breakfast room. Much of the woodwork being walnut and cherry. There is a large dressing room with tremendous wardrobe space. Overall adequate closet space throughout. Words cannot adequately describe the decor of this home, the taste, harmony of decorating, woodwork, floors and charm of this home. Structurally the home is in fine condition, insulated and heated with forced hot air heat. There is, in addition to this home inadequately described, a two car garage, workshop, summer kitchen with fireplace and utiltiy storage and tool bldg. Good school easily available by bus. The grounds are beautifully landscaped and are adjacent to state highway. For the buyer who wants the very most of quality, quantity and family living, at the least possible price per square or cubic footage, inquire for particulars in detail. Seen by appointment only. 10 minutes from town.

SORRY!

We are not having a gigantic, super-colossal sale with fantastic bargains. Nor do we claim to sell cars with no down payments or other such foolish come-ons.
Our every day methods are based on low pressure selling and good values.

We cannot honestly claim to have the most, the cheapest, or even the best used cars in the U.S. However, we do have a large selection of good reconditioned used cars, from 1949 models to 1957's, ranging in price from $95 to $2495. We are in the midst of Inventory Time and our prices are lower than usual.

Please give us the opportunity of helping you if you are considering the purchase of a used car or are contemplating selling your present car.

We have written guarantees, but we think our word is far more important: It is upon one's word that future happy relationships are dependent.

Replogle Moving Equipment For Route 35 Relocation Job

CHILLICOTHE — Equipment in army-style proportions for the invasion of Route 35 and its relocation and face-lifting operation is being moved into the area by the C. F. Replogle contracting firm of Circleville. . .with visions of paving operations dated for June 1, 1958.

The target area is 6.43 miles of Route 35, starting at a point 2.9 miles west of Jackson, the first of two projects on this route. The second section will be sold in April. It will cover the remaining 6.73-mile western section which will take the entire improvement to the railroad underpass west of Richmond Dale in Ross County.

Operation date for this $2,604,253.62 project is this week according to Don E. Goodchild, chief of operations for Replogle firm, and his assistant, John Bizzack. They attended pre-construction conference at the offices of Division 9 Deputy Director Paul M. Miller, Monday.

Pending completion of details of the contract by the Bureau of Public Roads, a federal agency which participates in the project, the green light on a start of operations has been given by the central office of the Ohio Department of Highways, it was announced by Mr. Miller, and Gerald McKeever, Div. 9 construction engineer, who conducted the pre-construction meeting.

Equipment moving in includes 10 D-8 crawler tractors, 3 D-9 crawler tractors, 4 DW-21 motor scrapers, 1 4-yard-hovel, 3 Tournarockers, 4 MRS-250 tractors, 4 OS-300 pans; equipment for a complete concrete plant and a paving materials plant, and a variety of items for the building of bridges over meandering Little Salt Creek in this particular area.

* * *

THE GIGANTIC proportion of this project is evident in the fact that 1,243,846 cubic yards of excavation are required. This is but one of 117 vital items connected with the completion of the job, including the construction of bridges and the installation of many culverts.

Within the next 10 days or two weeks, a group of Division 9 officials and others, who have had a prominent role in achieving this project will be on hand to give an official atmosphere to the start of operations. Actual date of this event is being held in abeyance until such a time as the boom-boom-boom of blasting and earth-moving gains impetus, and determination of where the initial operation will be.

Right-of-way officials stated that all details for the project will be cleared by Jan. 20, with all contracts signed and only a minimum of appropriation cases indicated.

Most utility facilities will be moved to new locations within the next four to six weeks, and the contractor will exercise extreme caution in blasting operations so as not to disrupt services of the various power and communication utilities.

The sequence of operations by the contractor calls for two 8-hour shifts and then two 10-hour shifts as the work proceeds.

Temporary run-arounds will be provided and traffic will be controlled with full attention to public safety and convenience.

Two offices will be maintained on the project site, one for the contractor and the other for the project engineer and survey crewmen. Staking operations will be expedited to keep ahead of the construction operations. No delays in the delivery of necessary materials is anticipated by the contractor as paving steel is available, and structural steel is listed as on a three-to-four-months delivery basis.

The only possible sub-contract on the project will be that of seeding operations.

U.S. Lottery Chances Said 'Bright' Now

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress' No. 1 advocate of a government-run lottery said today prospects never were brighter.

"Not that I am so naive I think my lottery bill will pass right away," added Rep. Paul H. Fino. "But things are moving our way."

Fino, a well-groomed Republican from a prosperous middle-class New York City district, said the government can have a yearly income boost of at least $10 billion without new taxes any time Congress authorizes a lottery. He said two things encourage him to think the time is near:

1. The drive to pour more funds into military and scientific efforts to counter Soviet gains. "Maybe you can balance a 74-billion-dollar budget on paper," he remarked, "but when they really start spending—."

2. A swing in public sentiment evidenced by such things as New Yorkers' referendum vote last November to legalize bingo.

As he has at regular intervals since he came to Congress in 1953, Fino took the floor to advise his colleagues they can't afford to neglect such a bonanza as a "well regulated, all-government-run lottery."

Fino's bill would set up a federal commission to make the rules and administer the lottery.

Gettysburg Plans Civil War Study

By RICHARD L. GRAVES

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP)— A long-sought dream of Civil War buffs and historians may be near reality in this battlefield community.

With the centennial observance of the nation's bloodiest struggle only 3½ years away, Gettysburg College is mapping plans to set up a National Civil War Institute to collect the treasures, fact and fiction of the four-year conflict.

"Gettysburg is a magic name in American history, it marked a beginning in this nation's long rise to world leadership," says Lt. Gen. Willard S. Paul, president of the college.

"We feel the time has come for such an institute, and we are convinced this battlefield is properly the place for it."

To help the plan along the college has earmarked its bullet-scarred Pennsylvania Hall—more familiarly "Old Dorm"—as the first building to house the proposed institute.

* * *

SOME 94 YEARS ago Old Dorm shook to the sound and fury of the nation's bloodiest battle. It's long halls were slippery with the blood of wounded Union and Confederate soldiers. Its cupola was the watchtower first of Northern then of Southern officers plotting the carnage that was the battle of Gettysburg.

Today it stands in quiet repose, shrouded by trees, a home for students.

"We hope the institute will become a center for Civil War studies," Paul said. "Our aim is for it to assist students—both professional and amateur—toward better research and interpretation of the war."

The idea of setting up such an institute grew out of the recent first national conference on the Civil War held at the college in mid-November in conjunction with the school's 125th anniversary.

Top Civil War scholars from across the nation joined forces to reappraise the impact of the conflict on the growth of the United States as a world power. All agreed that there was a need for such an institute and that Gettysburg was the logical place for it.

The conference was the curtain-raiser on what promises to be a massive observance of the Civil War centennial—which will probably continue well into 1965, the 100th anniversary year of the war's end.

Paul says the planned institute would not be limited to military developments, but include civil affairs, arts, literature, politics, international relations and studies of the long-range impact of the war on current national problems.

To implement this aim we hope to establish first a summer school Civil War workshop, bringing in the top men in the field as lecturers," Paul said. "Field trips to other Civil War battlefields would be part of the program."

* * *

PAUL SAID the long-range plan for the institute is to build up an extensive library and museum covering not only the war period, but also the period leading up to the war and during its aftermath.

"With a central institute," adds Paul, "perhaps these elements of our greatest national tragedy can be brought together or catalogued with an eye to preserving them for the future."

Replogle Moving Equipment For Route 35 Relocation Job

CHILLICOTHE — Equipment in army-style proportions for the invasion of Route 35 and its relocation and face-lifting operation is being moved into the area by the C. F. Replogle contracting firm of Circleville. . .with visions of paving operations dated for June 1, 1958.

The target area is 6.43 miles of Route 35, starting at a point 2.9 miles west of Jackson, the first of two projects on this route. The second section will be sold in April. It will cover the remaining 6.73-mile western section which will take the entire improvement to the railroad underpass west of Richmond Dale in Ross County.

Operation date for this $2,604,253.62 project is this week according to Don E. Goodchild, chief of operations for Replogle firm, and his assistant, John Bizzack. They attended pre-construction conference at the offices of Division 9 Deputy Director Paul M. Miller, Monday.

Pending completion of details of the contract by the Bureau of Public Roads, a federal agency which participates in the project, the green light on a start of operations has been given by the central office of the Ohio Department of Highways, it was announced by Mr. Miller, and Gerald McKeever, Div. 9 construction engineer, who conducted the pre-construction meeting.

Equipment moving in includes 10 D-8 crawler tractors, 3 D-9 crawler tractors, 4 DW-21 motor scrapers, 1 4-yard-hovel, 3 Tournarockers, 4 MRS-250 tractors, 4 OS-300 pans; equipment for a complete concrete plant and a paving materials plant, and a variety of items for the building of bridges over meandering Little Salt Creek in this particular area.

* * *

THE GIGANTIC proportion of this project is evident in the fact that 1,243,846 cubic yards of excavation are required. This is but one of 117 vital items connected with the completion of the job, including the construction of bridges and the installation of many culverts.

Within the next 10 days or two weeks, a group of Division 9 officials and others, who have had a prominent role in achieving this project will be on hand to give an official atmosphere to the start of operations. Actual date of this event is being held in abeyance until such a time as the boom-boom-boom of blasting and earth-moving gains impetus, and determination of where the initial operation will be.

Right-of-way officials stated that all details for the project will be cleared by Jan. 20, with all contracts signed and only a minimum of appropriation cases indicated.

Most utility facilities will be moved to new locations within the next four to six weeks, and the contractor will exercise extreme caution in blasting operations so as not to disrupt services of the various power and communication utilities.

The sequence of operations by the contractor calls for two 8-hour shifts and then two 10-hour shifts as the work proceeds.

Temporary run-arounds will be provided and traffic will be controlled with full attention to public safety and convenience.

Two offices will be maintained on the project site, one for the contractor and the other for the project engineer and survey crewmen. Staking operations will be expedited to keep ahead of the construction operations. No delays in the delivery of necessary materials is anticipated by the contractor as paving steel is available, and structural steel is listed as on a three-to-four-months delivery basis.

The only possible sub-contract on the project will be that of seeding operations.

Gettysburg Plans Civil War Study

By RICHARD L. GRAVES

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP) — A long-sought dream of Civil War buffs and historians may be near reality in this battlefield community.

With the centennial observance of the nation's bloodiest struggle only 3½ years away, Gettysburg College is mapping plans to set up a National Civil War Institute to collect the treasures, fact and fiction of the four-year conflict.

"Gettysburg is a magic name in American history, it marked a beginning in this nation's long rise to world leadership," says Lt. Gen. Willard S. Paul, president of the college.

"We feel the time has come for such an institute, and we are convinced this battlefield is properly the place for it."

To help the plan along the college has earmarked its bullet-scarred Pennsylvania Hall—more familiarly "Old Dorm"—as the first building to house the proposed institute.

* * *

SOME 94 YEARS ago Old Dorm shook to the sound and fury of the nation's bloodiest battle. It's long halls were slippery with the blood of wounded Union and Confederate soldiers. Its cupola was the watchtower first of Northern then of Southern officers plotting the carnage that was the battle of Gettysburg.

Today it stands in quiet repose, shrouded by trees, a home for students.

"We hope the institute will become a center for Civil War studies," Paul said. "Our aim is for it to assist students—both professional and amateur—toward better research and interpretation of the war."

The idea of setting up such an institute grew out of the recent first national conference on the Civil War held at the college in mid-November in conjunction with the school's 125th anniversary.

Top Civil War scholars from across the nation joined forces to reappraise the impact of the conflict on the growth of the United States as a world power. All agreed that there was a need for such an institute and that Gettysburg was the logical place for it.

The conference was the curtain-raiser on what promises to be a massive observance of the Civil War centennial—which will probably continue well into 1965, the 100th anniversary year of the war's end.

Paul says the planned institute would not be limited to military developments, but include civil affairs, arts, literature, politics, international relations and studies of the long-range impact of the war on current national problems.

To implement this aim we hope to establish first a summer school Civil War workshop, bringing in the top men in the field as lecturers," Paul said. "Field trips to other Civil War battlefields would be part of the program."

* * *

PAUL SAID the long-range plan for the institute is to build up an extensive library and museum covering not only the war period, but also the period leading up to the war and during its aftermath.

"With a central institute," adds Paul, "perhaps these elements of our greatest national tragedy can be brought together or catalogued with an eye to preserving them for the future."

U.S. Lottery Chances Said 'Bright' Now

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress' No. 1 advocate of a government-run lottery said today prospects never were brighter.

"Not that I am so naive I think my lottery bill will pass right away," added Rep. Paul H. Fino. "But things are moving our way."

Fino, a well-groomed Republican from a prosperous middle-class New York City district, said the government can have a yearly income boost of at least $10 billion without new taxes any time Congress authorizes a lottery. He said two things encourage him to think the time is near:

1. The drive to pour more funds into military and scientific efforts to counter Soviet gains. "Maybe you can balance a 74-billion-dollar budget on paper," he remarked, "but when they really start spending—."

2. A swing in public sentiment evidenced by such things as New Yorkers' referendum vote last November to legalize bingo.

As he has at regular intervals since he came to Congress in 1953, Fino took the floor to advise his colleagues they can't afford to neglect such a bonanza as a "well regulated, all-government-run lottery."

Fino's bill would set up a federal commission to make the rules and administer the lottery.

HENRY III'S SECRET DOOR—John Charlton (left), London's inspector of ancient monuments, and his assistant, Peter Curnon, examine the newly-found secret gate which leads from the Thames into the Tower of London. The long lost water gate was built for Henry III in the 13th century so he could get in and out without encountering heckling crowds. He was an unpopular king—he introduced high taxation. (International)
